A Point In Time

The time has come
For you to step
Out of the shadows
Of adolescence
Onto the verge of tomorrow.

Standing in the doorway
Of adulthood,
Glancing over your shoulder
At your past,
But only for a moment,
As your mind recreates
Days of tears and laughter.

In rememberance of all
The precious moments gone by,
You hid your head in shame
Because of some stupid stunt
You pulled, or held
Your head in honor
When praise had come your way.

And through it all,
Experience itself
Was your kindest, cruelest
Teacher.

And as you think upon these things
You're wondering if they weren't
A waste of time
Or something you'll always cherish.

It may be,
But only if you learned
Your lessons well.

Turn your head about now,
For the future
Is what we live for,
And shall be why we die.

The fruits of life
Are at your beck and call;
They won't wait long
For you.

Now your eyes
Will focus on the future,
With all the prizes and the pitfalls
It may hold.

Blending Black With White Is Education's Problem

Blending black with white is one of education's greatest problems. How does a school geared to the thoughts, actions and ideals of middle classed Anglo-Americans make room for Black America with its own set of values, thoughts and goals?

The year began with isolated incidents where small groups of blacks alledgedly attacked lone whites in the halls or rest rooms between classes. Later, whites banded together with a "list" of black students they wanted to "get." Switch blades and cake-cutters promised to be a way of life at East.

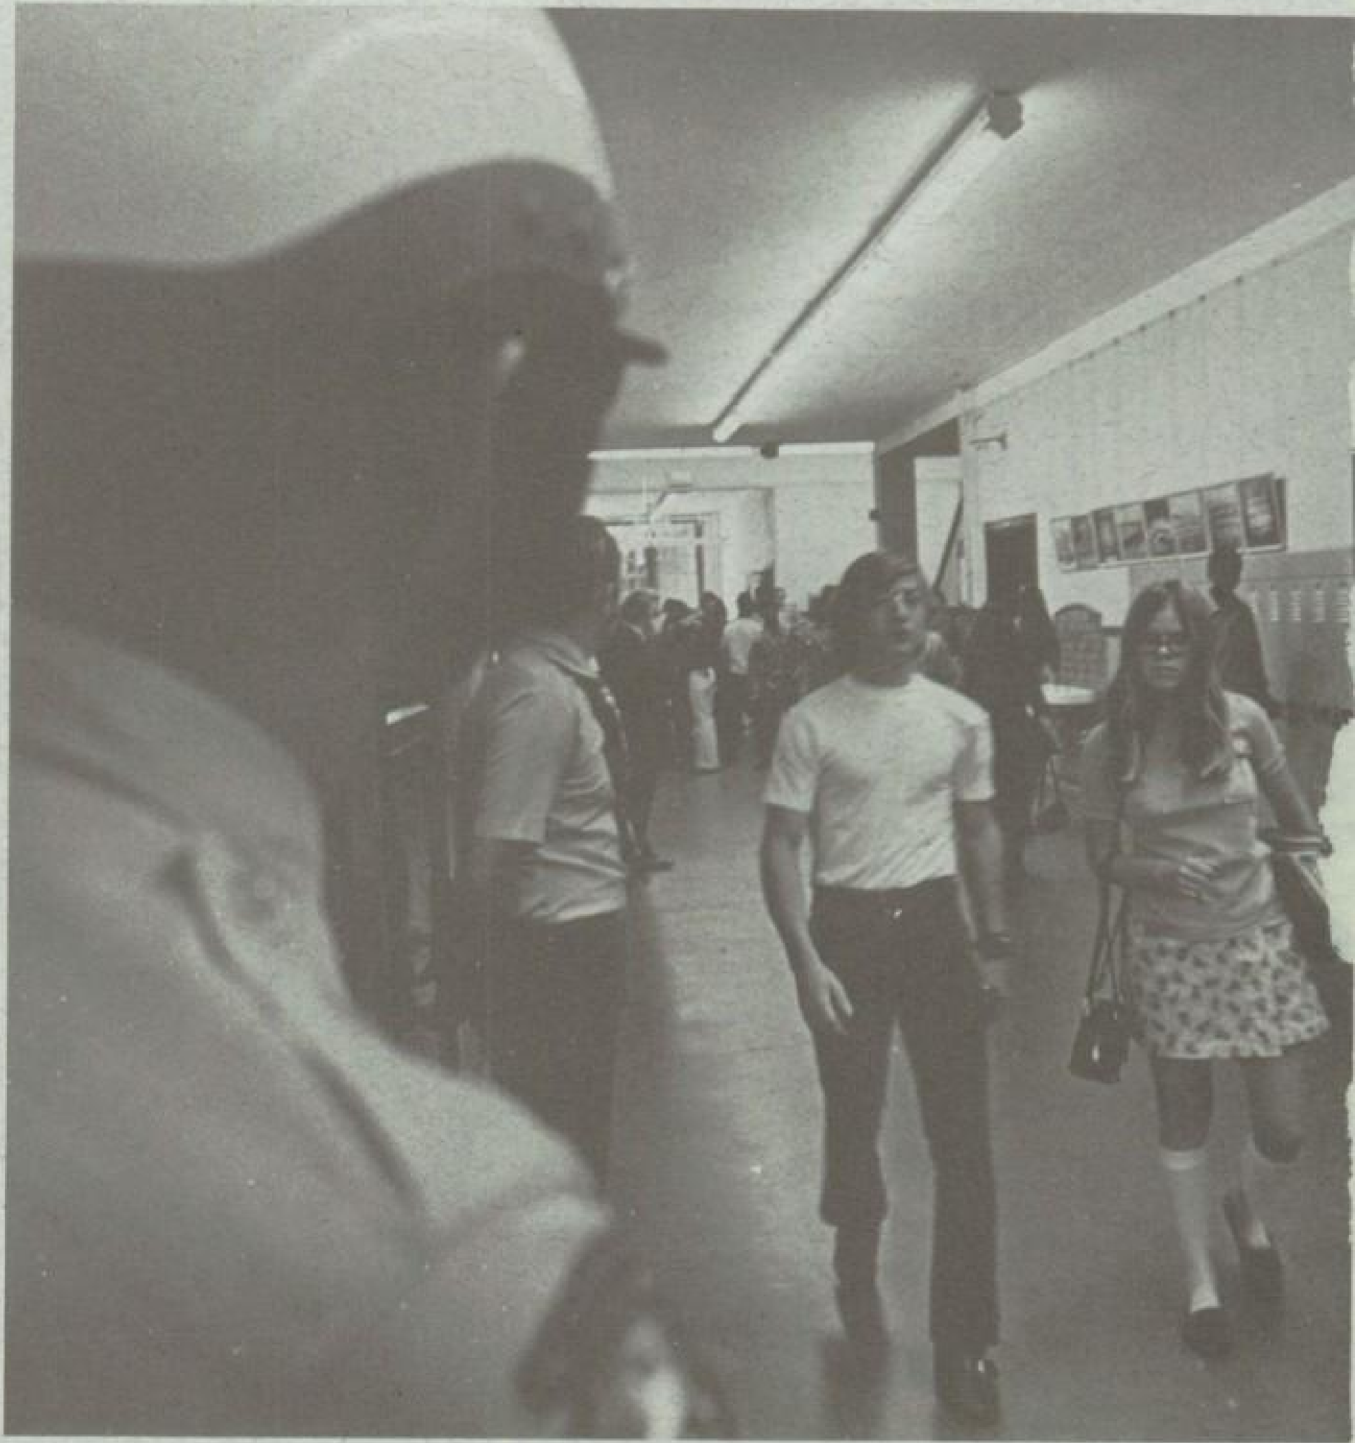
Second nine weeks marked a change in attitudes. No, the change was not sudden or even striking. There were no great expressions of brotherly love between blacks and whites. Those who talked as friends did the same thing earlier in the year.

Neither was the change due to a realization that each race needed the other for a happy life. Quite frankly, both races seemed to think they would be happier without the other.

The answer could probably be summarized with one word . . . respect.

Neither race could conquer the other, and neither was ready to give in to the other because of fear. The only other alternatives were total destruction of both races or a social stalemate.

East chose the latter, and everybody found out that the other guy isn't so strange after all.



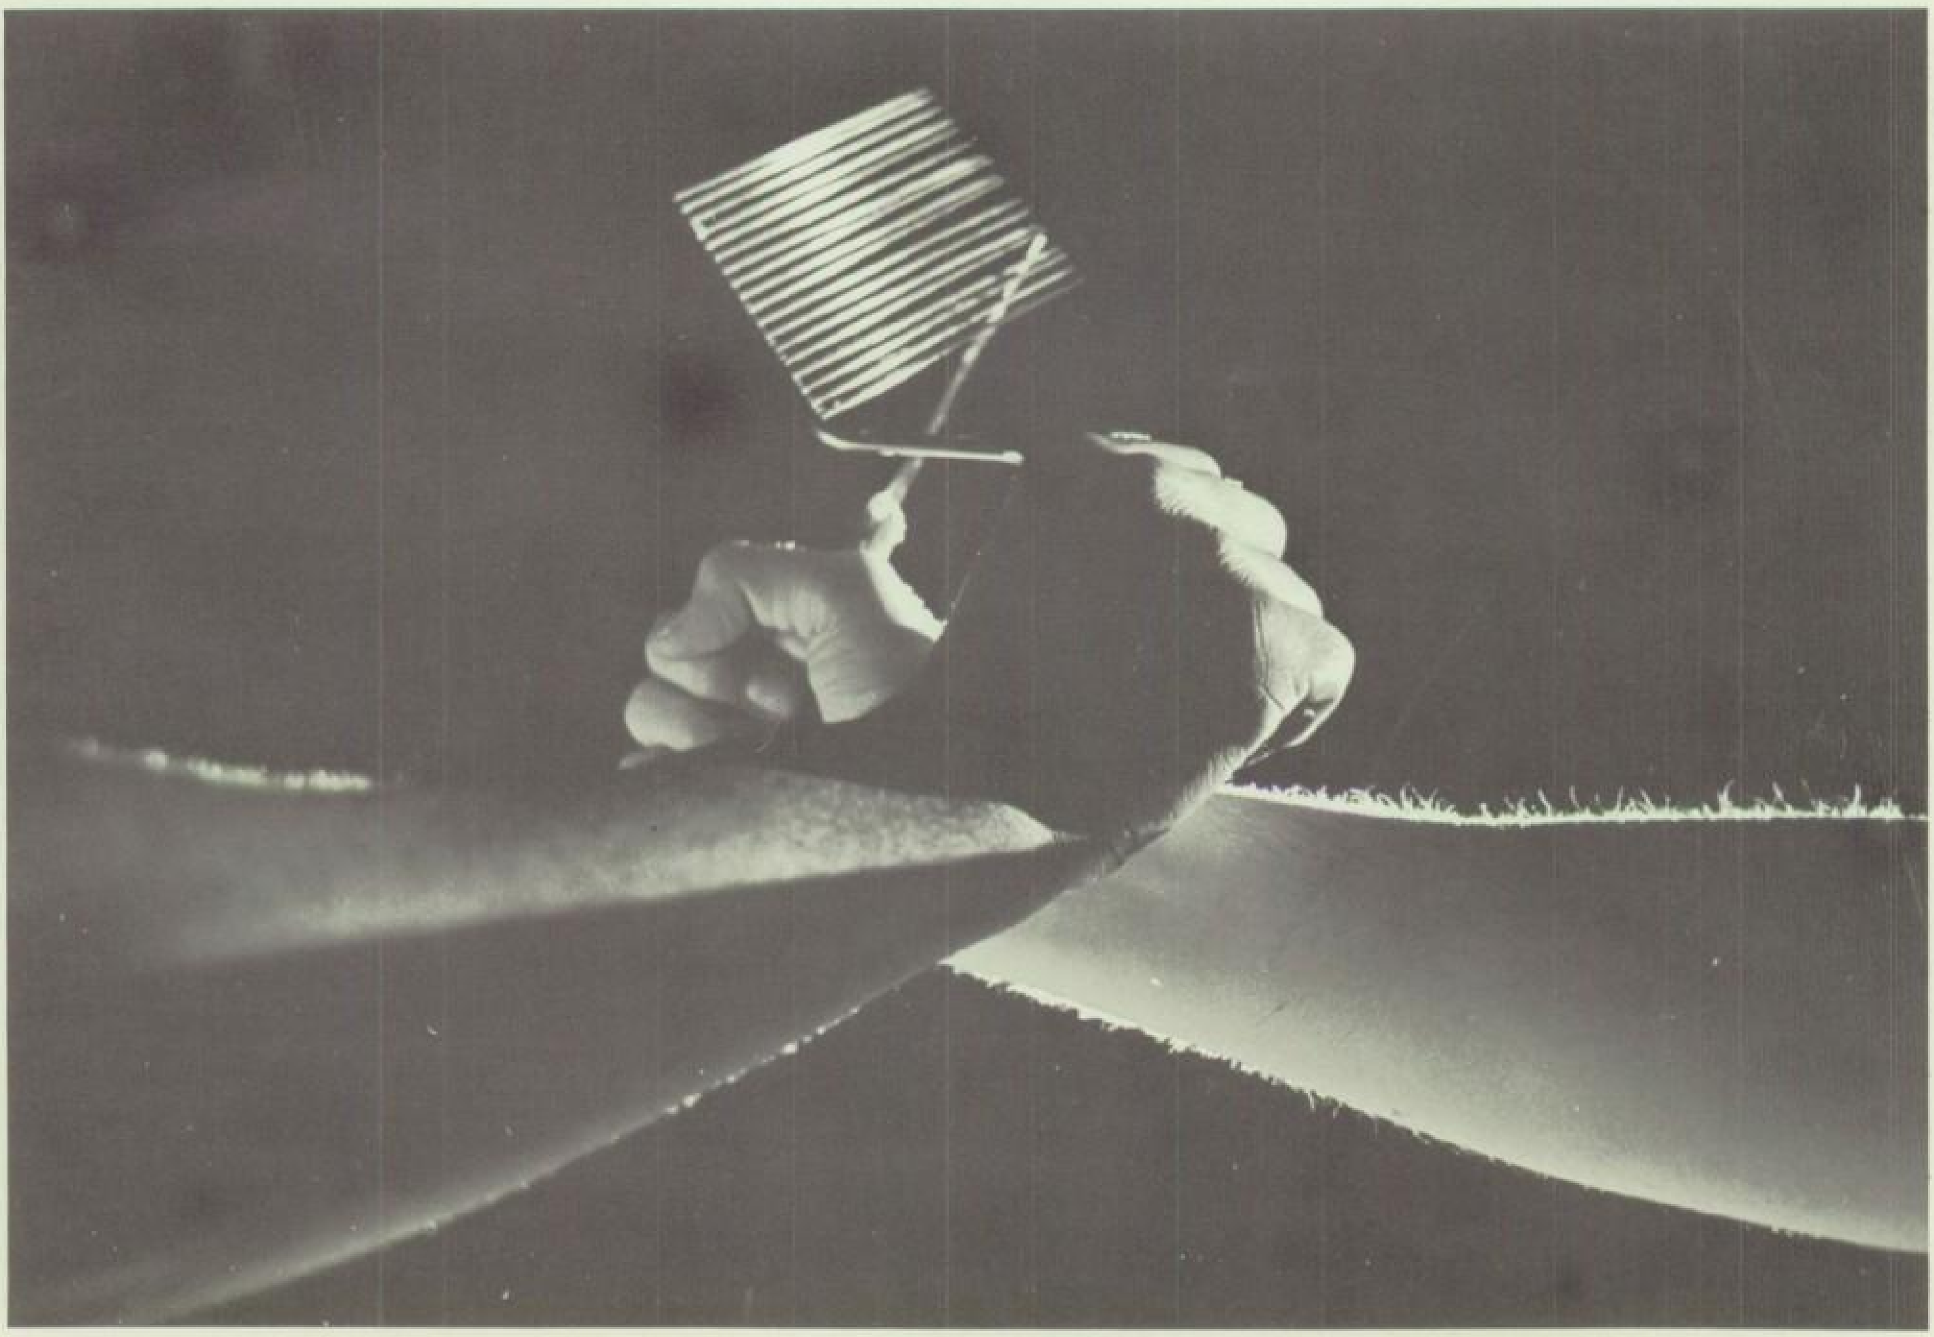
HRB Experiences Frustrating But Satisfying Year

What is the meaning of Human Relations? How can we reach the entire student body? Is it worth the effort? These are but a few of the questions that were asked by the members of the Human Relations Board. The Board experienced a trying, frustrating, but somewhat satisfying year. The year started with the selection of officers and from that point on things became more difficult.

Ironically, some of the problems that the Human Relations Board was supposed to alleviate could have been seen among the Board members. Prejudice, mistrust, bickering and power struggles within the Board marred the actions of the Human Relations Board. Some people were dissatisfied with the actions of the president, Lawrence McGhee, and this caused a split in the Board. Apathy and disinterest whittled the attendance mark from approximately 30 members to five or ten people attending the meetings. During this time near nothing was accomplished. The negative time peaked and subsided during the first part of December. It was about this time that Mrs. Beverly Guterez, of the Board of Education's Human Relations Council, came to East to help reorganize and teach the board to work as a group. That was done in two all-day sessions. Puzzles, group discussions and tinker toys were used as teaching and evaluating materials.

After the board learned how to work together, they then set out to teach the student body. First on their agenda was the Human Relations Week. Activities during the week included members of the board walking around with a dollar and whoever asked them if they "were a friend" was given the dollar. Other activities were a lounge time in the auditorium during fourth hour, which was continued throughout the week, along with music being provided in the auditorium during that time. Complaints arose from the student body over the Human Relations Week. One of the more prominent complaints was that the Human Relations Board made no attempt to communicate with the students earlier in the year and then all at once the Board was saying "This is Human Relations Week, so everyone love each other this week." The students claimed that the Board was implying that since it was a special week everybody should love each other, even if you hated each other the rest of the time.

Even though a few students were disturbed, it was an attempt by the Human Relations Board to communicate with the students and perhaps bring about cooperation among the student body. This, a majority of the students were glad to see.



Tomorrow's Army Meets Demands of Today's Youth

"Gentlemen," began the sergeant, "it is my pleasure to officially welcome you to the United States All-Volunteer Army. My name is Sergeant McHenry, and I will be with you throughout your training period of three days here at the Ft. Flowery Hilton. If you encounter any difficulties during your stay, feel free to consider me as a father, mother, or any other overpowering figure of your choice. I will do everything in my limited authority to ensure your happiness. For remember, gentlemen, this is your Army, and, of course, Uncle Sam wants to please YOU!

"At this point, I would like to give you a brief, but thorough, (keep in mind, the Army is always thorough) summary of the routine in which you will participate each day. Reveille is at about 1200 hours, and at this time, we cordially invite you to a seven course continental breakfast at the eating establishment in the 'Agnes' building, which is located just behind the new $9 billion malt shop on Grandeur Boulevard. You will have two hours for this meal. If this is not a sufficient time allotment, please let me know immediately.

"At 1400 hours, you will have a rest period of forty-five minutes, followed by a classroom session in which you will be instructed in the correct use of more than ten different modern weapons, including the slingshot, bow and arrow and mudball. This fiteen minute meeting brings us to the main activity of the day, the one-hour daily seminar on the hows and whys of conducting yourself correctly in the presence of your spouses, parents and visiting dignitaries. A three-minute calisthenics period closes the day here in sunny Miami.

"The rest of the day you may use as you see fit. You might choose to date one of our resident entertainment girls, or maybe play poker or shoot craps in one of the base's sixty-four bars and gambling parlors. 'Agnes' is open 24 hours a day, and the food, being free, is some of the cheapest you will find. We invite you to spend your evening mealtime with us.

"There is, unfortunately, still a ruling concerning bedchecks, but I assure you this is only temporary. Checks are made every two days. If for some reason you are not in your apartment at this time, contact either myself or my wife, and we will see what we can do about it. Lights should be out at three a.m., and I think that's about it. Any questions?"

A voice arose from the din of small talk.

"Sir?"

"Yes, Grabolski."

"Sarge-uh, you don't mind us calling you Sarge, do you?"

"Oh, for Heaven's sake, this isn't a boy scout troop. Go ahead," Sarge grinned, and straightened his bow tie.

"Well, sir, what about the pay?"

"I'm glad you asked me that, Grabolski. You're about due for a commendation, anyway. As enlisted men — "

"But what's the difference, Sarge? It's all volunteer."

"Yeah. Well, anyway, the pay ranges from $500 to $799.99."

"A month?"

"Son," laughed Sarge, "that's per week. And that's not all the Army has in store for you. You will each be given a number where you can reach your personal United States-provided attorney any time of the day or night, for any reason whatsoever.

"Our medical department is fully equipped to handle any emergency. And you all are aware of the reputation of our abortion clinic. The 'Straight Way,' our world-reknown drug rehabilitation center, features methadone, Super-amphetamines and Barbo-barbs to aid in the realization of your true self. A question, Smith?"

"Yes, sir," said Smith, a young person with beautiful long blond hair and a complexion to match, "is there any sort of rule concerning Mary-J-Wana?"

"Very good point to bring up. This is one of the strong points of today's Army. We are presently the only free-world nation to have adopted the policy of a monthly Marijuana allowance. In accordance, there are several places on the base where pot can be purchased at reasonable prices, one being the post exchange. Does that answer your question, Smith?"

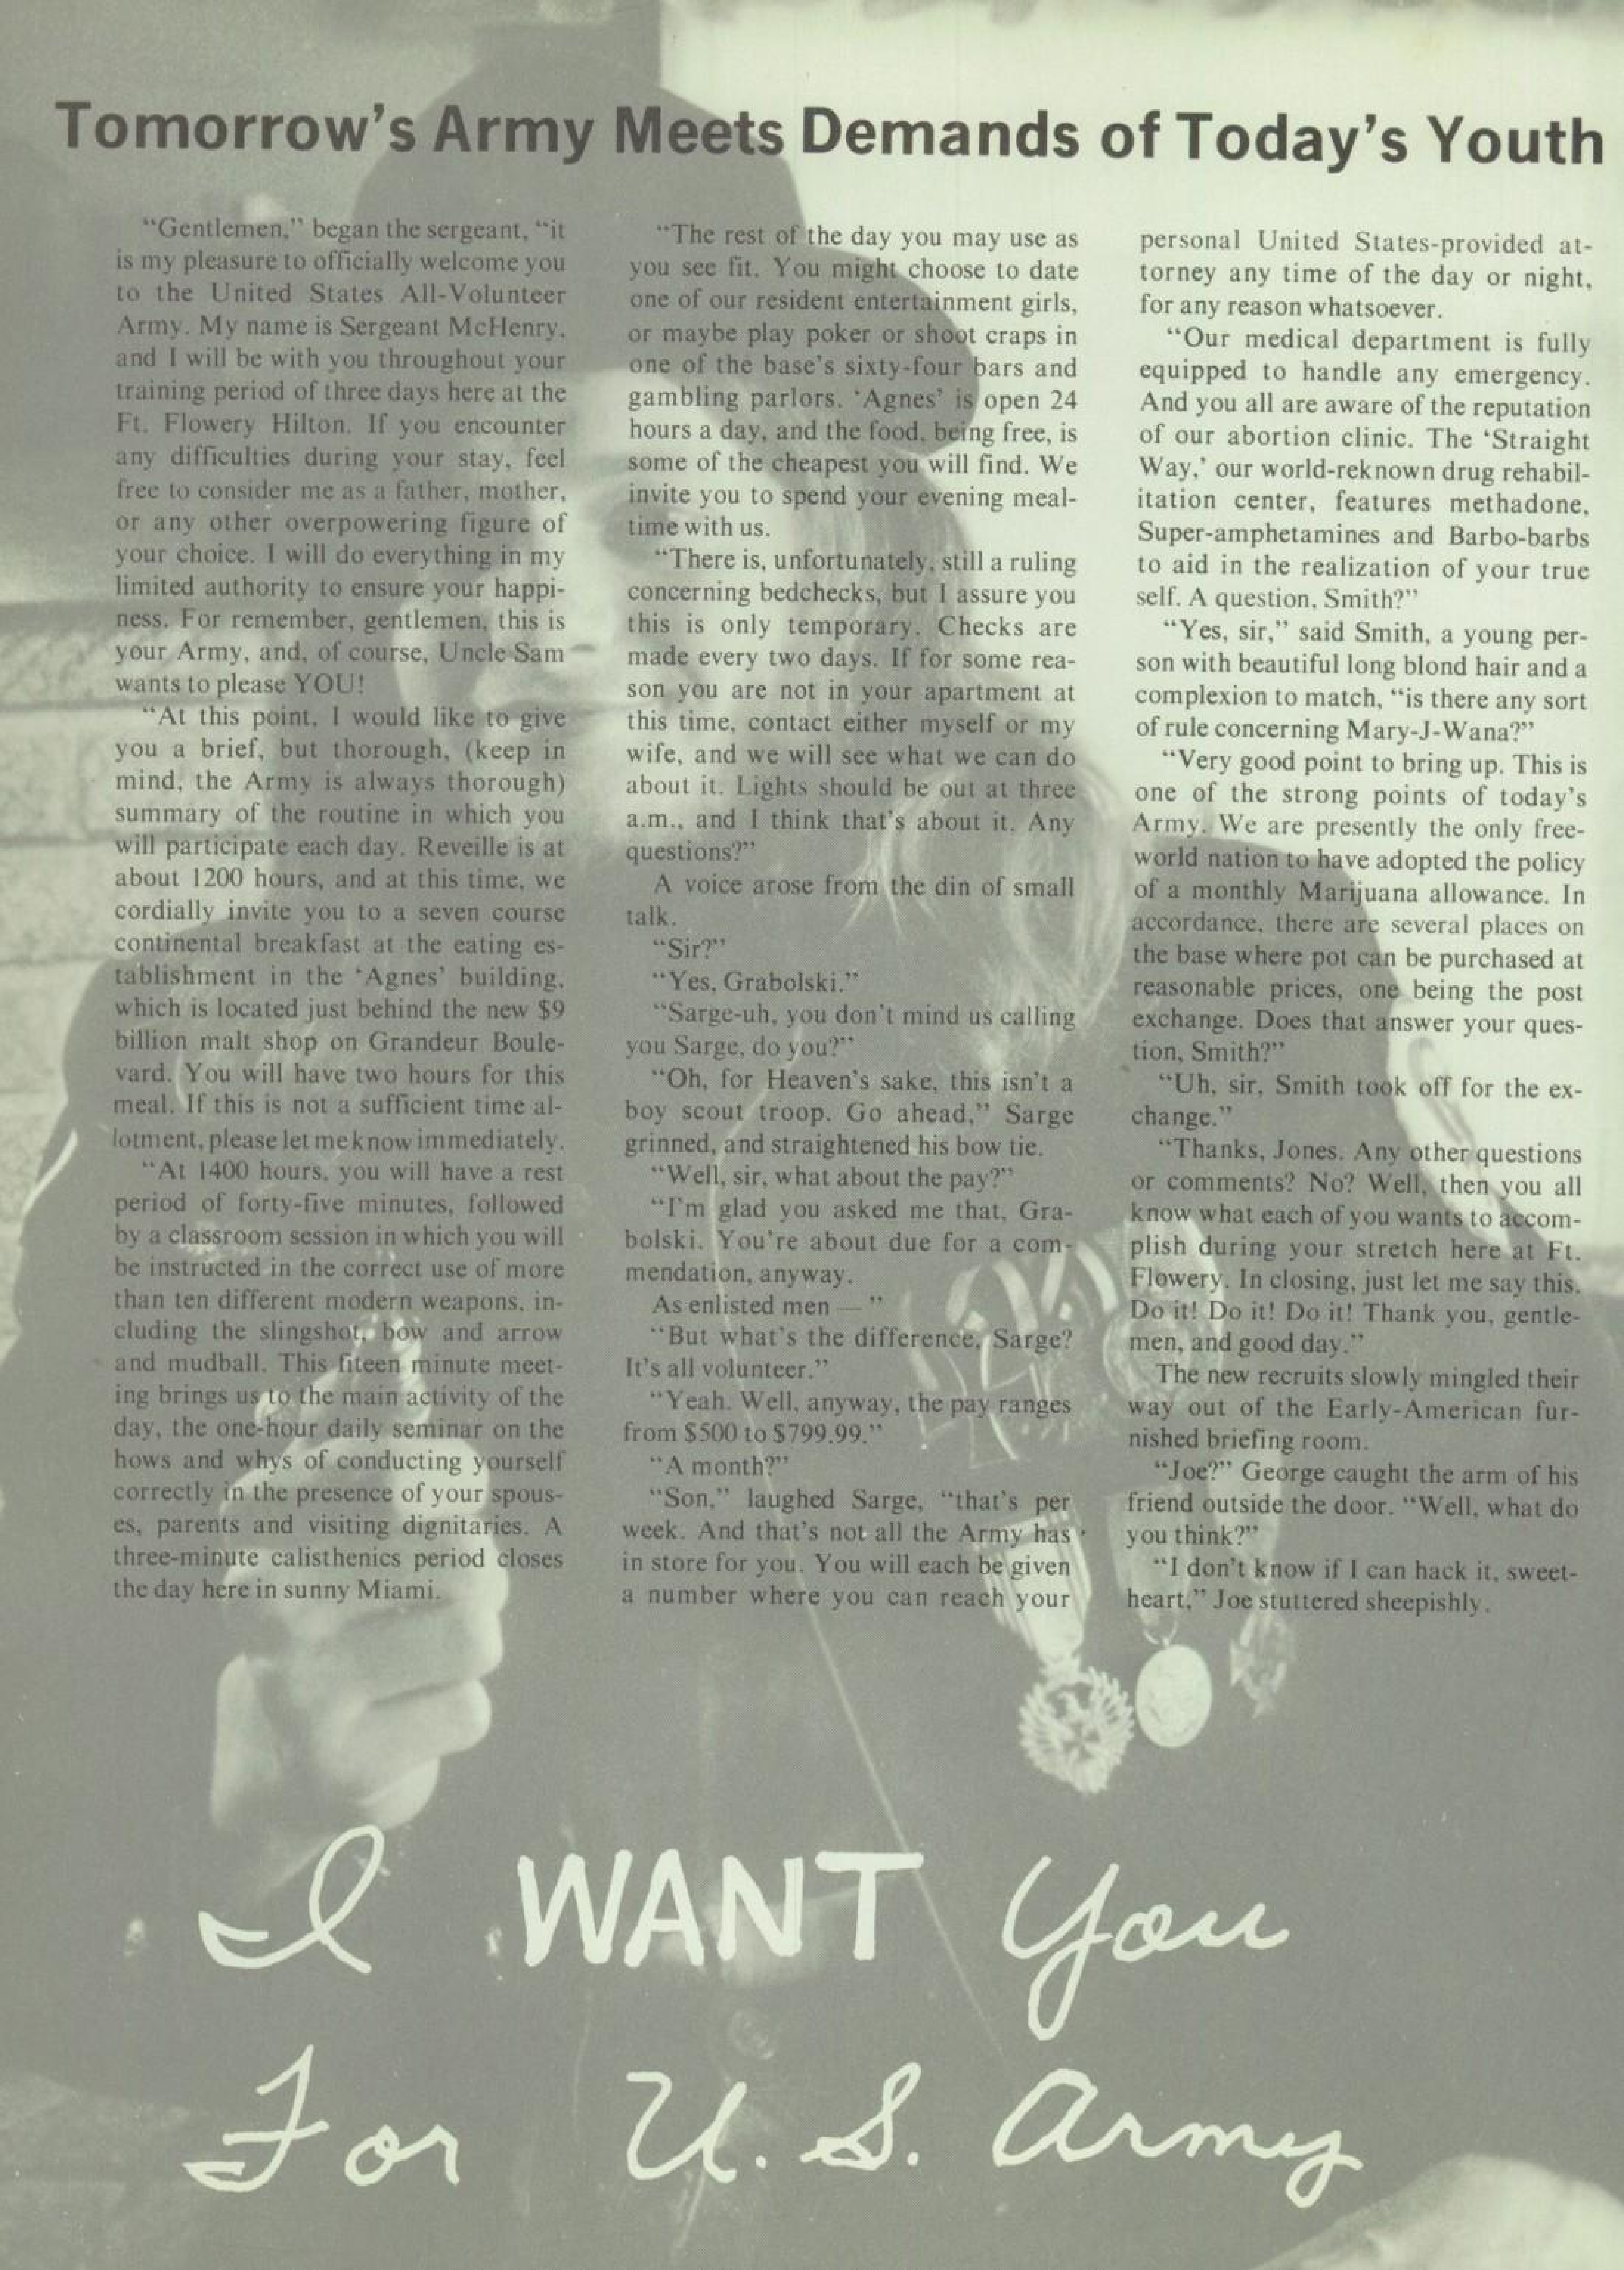
"Uh, sir, Smith took off for the exchange."

"Thanks, Jones. Any other questions or comments? No? Well, then you all know what each of you wants to accomplish during your stretch here at Ft. Flowery. In closing, just let me say this. Do it! Do it! Do it! Thank you, gentlemen, and good day."

The new recruits slowly mingled their way out of the Early-American furnished briefing room.

"Joe?" George caught the arm of his friend outside the door. "Well, what do you think?"

"I don't know if I can hack it, sweetheart," Joe stuttered sheepishly.



Seniors Face Indecision About Military Service

Sooner or later, every man must decide whether he will serve his country through military service, or whether he will refuse to serve. Avenues of indecision in both areas are many.

With pay raises and fringe benefits for servicemen ever increasing, many East High grads will choose military service after graduation. Others wishing to attend college, trade schools or find a job will try the reserves and national guards.

All branches of the service offer career fields suited to the different students at East. The Army, for instance, is not all marching, parading and killing. It has jobs for typists, mechanics, printers, electricians and pharmacists. It is not, however, an easy route guaranteed to give each man what he wants, when he wants it. Probably, the Army's most useless program for preparing young men for future jobs is the infantry.

Even the Air Force, never known for its role in hand-to-hand combat, will not train a man for the particular job he wants. If his tests show an aptitude for a specific career and the Air Force needs someone in that field, the man is trained for that job. It's as simple as that, seemingly regardless of individual wants. Even the AF reserve and national guard units follow this rule of training people for jobs needed.

Life in the reserves and national guards, weekend warriors, is not all milk and honey. Long hair, so much a part of acceptance by other young people today, is an impossibility with the monthly croppings. Furthermore, these units have six-year enlistments as opposed to two with the Army, although total active duty time is actually less than two years. Aside from the time element, enlistees are almost forced to remain in the relative geographic area of their respective units and are denied nearly all the shopping privileges, health care, etc., of regular servicemen. Probably the only real advantage besides time is that if war comes, reservists and national guards are kept with their own units — men they probably grew up with.

There are, of course, some other catches peculiar to the weekend warrior types. Different units are classed as "A" or "B." "A" groups attend meetings on both Saturday and Sunday of the same weekend. "B" groups only attend one Saturday each month. Some Navy units attend as often as every Wednesday night; the Navy is also the most liberal branch of the service in the haircut department.

Air Force Reserves and Guards give priority to high school grads under 18 and one half years of age. Also, their members report in at 7:30 a.m. and leave around 5 p.m., instead of camping out as the Army groups do.

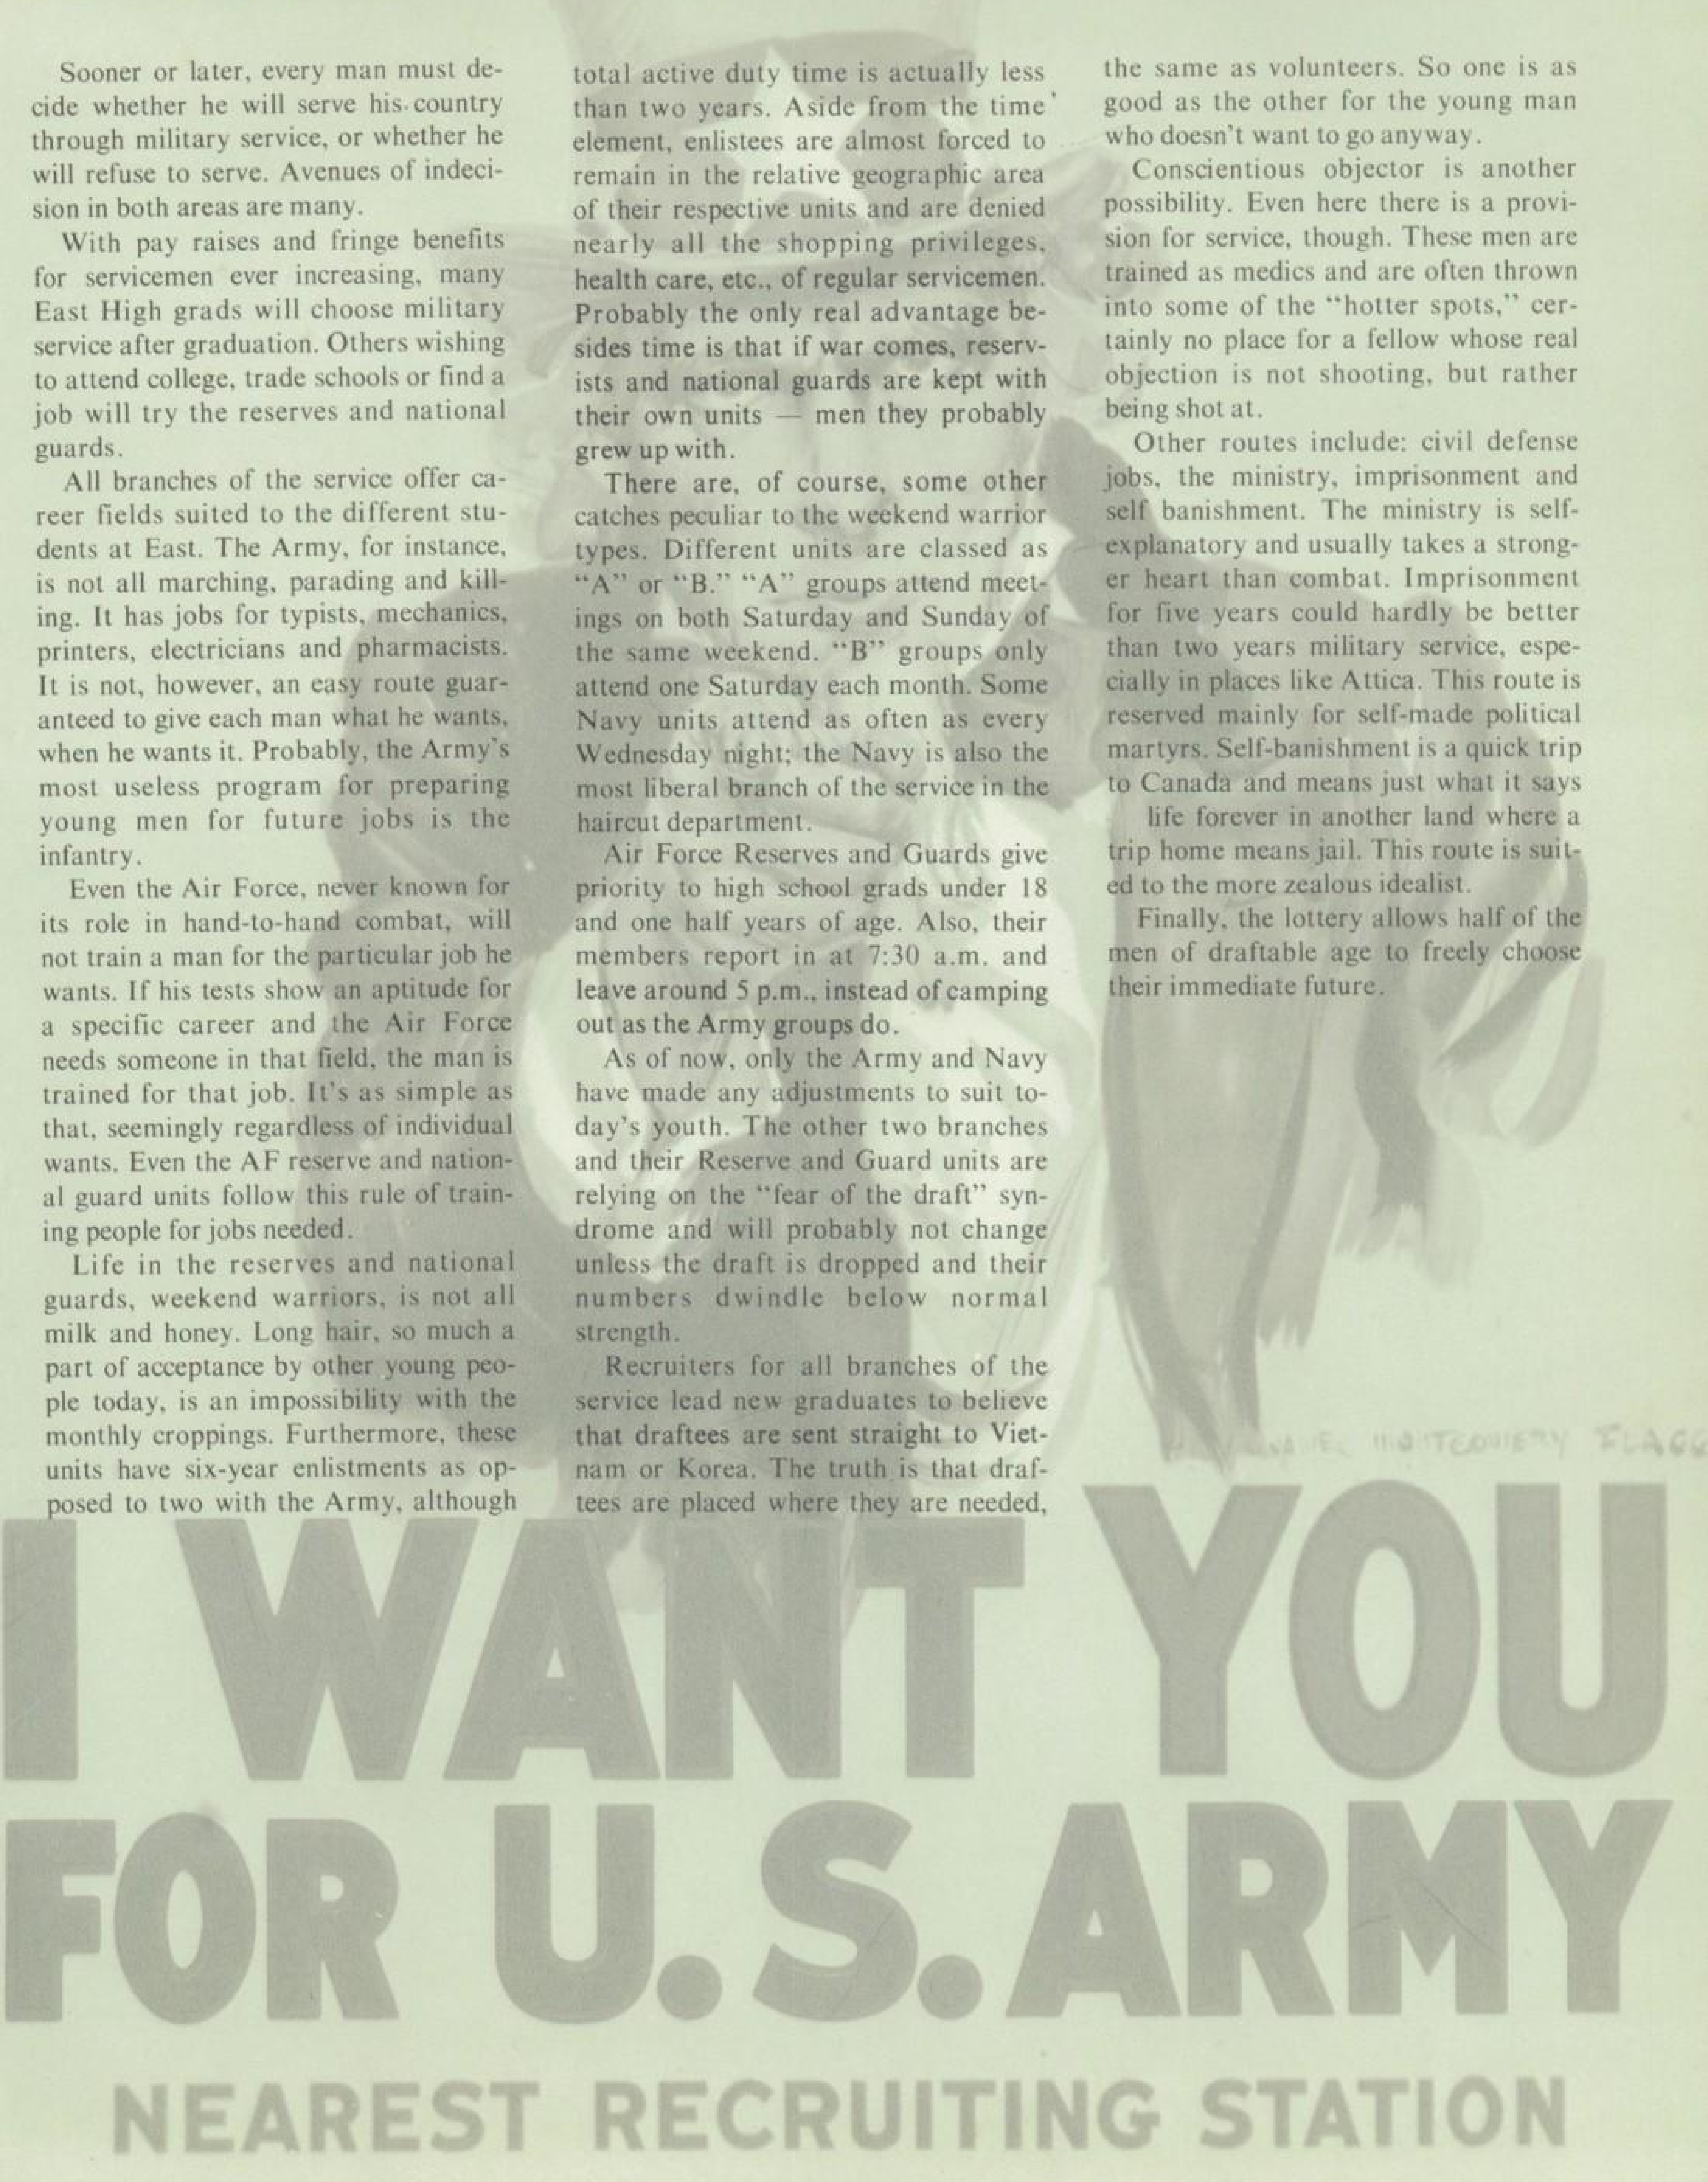
As of now, only the Army and Navy have made any adjustments to suit today's youth. The other two branches and their Reserve and Guard units are relying on the "fear of the draft" syndrome and will probably not change unless the draft is dropped and their numbers dwindle below normal strength.

Recruiters for all branches of the service lead new graduates to believe that draftees are sent straight to Vietnam or Korea. The truth is that draftees are placed where they are needed, the same as volunteers. So one is as good as the other for the young man who doesn't want to go anyway.

Conscientious objector is another possibility. Even here there is a provision for service, though. These men are trained as medics and are often thrown into some of the "hotter spots," certainly no place for a fellow whose real objection is not shooting, but rather being shot at.

Other routes include: civil defense jobs, the ministry, imprisonment and self banishment. The ministry is self-explanatory and usually takes a stronger heart than combat. Imprisonment for five years could hardly be better than two years military service, especially in places like Attica. This route is reserved mainly for self-made political martyrs. Self-banishment is a quick trip to Canada and means just what it says life forever in another land where a trip home means jail. This route is suited to the more zealous idealist.

Finally, the lottery allows half of the men of draftable age to freely choose their immediate future.



Puritan Ethic Persists Today in Competitiveness

Stored away in the morgue of America's mythological beliefs is the idea that competitiveness is necessary for survival. This idea, given to us by the Puritans, persists today as the last of many sacred cows promising manhood for the red-blooded-all-American boy.

There are many institutions in this country which have helped to make the idea of competitiveness stick. They are as follows, though not necessarily in any specific order:

1. Academics,
2. Sports (from junior high to pro level),
3. Parents, and
4. Peer groups.

Academically, such instructional crutches as the "bell curve" (a system which demands an equal number of "F's" as "A's") force students to compete with each other for passing grades. This system is hardly applicable in a homogenous school system where students are grouped according to their abilities and past performances.

Some poor souls will go out for any type of sport only to wind up bench-warming and never getting into the game until the last minute and 48 seconds, and then only after the first string has built up a substantial lead. Should he and his fellow second-stringers blow the game, the coach will probably tear them down, forgetting that their lack of experience, due to little or no game play, might just be a major factor in their losing the game. The pressure that a star or super-star has to go through is enormous, but the pressure that an average player must face is even greater beause of his inexperience. Top this off with the sarcastic rebuttals with which the coach will slap him in the face and you have the ingredients for the demoralizing of a human being who is not only being crucified physically but mentally as well.

Competitiveness is not limited to sports and academics. It takes root at home. Little Johnny's parents both made straight "A's" back in their three-room school house, so why doesn't Johnny? To them the reason is obvious; Johnny doesn't try. However, Johnny may try very hard just to get his marginal grades and may, quite frankly, view a trip to success through his father's footsteps as the worst drudgery life has to offer. Doesn't he have the right to choose his way?

Peer groups demand both excellence and its opposite. Nothing gets a person ostracized from a school's "elite" quite so quickly as their finding out that he is "dumb." Too, the young man who can drink the most and swear the loudest never has any problem "fitting in."

With the movement toward individualism today, perhaps the consequences of competitiveness will slowly transform into the virtues ot mutual respect.

Education Depends on the Heart Rather Than the Mind

What are we educating for in America today? What good is education if it does not help us to become more human toward one another? What is wrong, the study commissioned by the Carnegie Corporation contends, is due not to indifference, or stupidity, but to mindleness — the fact that it simply never occurs to more than a handful of teachers or administrators — or parents or government officials or civic leaders — to ask why they are doing what they are doing, to think seriously or deeply about the purposes of education.

Contrary to popular opinion, education is more a matter of the heart than the mind. To put it bluntly, a three and a half year study commissioned by the Carnegie Corporation indicted the public school for its "Mutilation of a child's spirit." In prosperous as well as slum areas, the report says there is "mutilation of spontaneity, of joy of learning, of pleasure in creating and of a sense of self." Public schools are "grim, joyless places, oppressive and petty" in governing, "intellectually sterile and aestetically barren" in atmosphere, lacking in "civility" by teachers and principals, and "full of contempt for children."

Evils like "preoccupation with order and control, slavish adherences to the lesson plan, obsession with routine for the sake of routine, lack of interest in creativity, general joylessness and repression, universality of the formal lecture or teacher-dominated 'discussion' . . . can be eliminated," the report explains.

A possible path away from the bleakness might be: "education should prepare people not just to earn a living but to live a life — a creative, humane, and sensitive life."

How can we make education more sensitive, more humane? The great teacher — a good carpenter by trade — Jesus of Nazareth, tells us how this can be accomplished. "Do not judge others . . . Take the plank out of your own eye first, and then you will be able to see and take the speck out of your brother's eye." If we can look inward at our own shortcomings, then maybe we will be able to sympathize with the shortcomings of others. The ability to sympathize, the ability to care, the ability to love, this is the "stuff" it takes to make education more human. The carpenter describes love in these terms:

"Love is patient and kind; love is not jealous, or conceited, or proud; love is not ill-mannered, or selfish, or irritable; love does not keep a record of wrongs; love is not happy with evil, but is happy with the truth. Love never gives up; it can outlast anything.

Spectators Say "East Take State!" B-Ballers Oblige

Before a partisan crowd of nearly 5,000 people the East High basketball team captured its first Kansas State Basketball Championship trophy since the 1961-62 season, keeping North away from the title since it last won 18 years ago.

East first beat Hutchinson, 74-63, to gain a berth in the state 5-A tourney and then glided past Shawnee Mission East in the first game of the state tournament, 77-60.

The second game of the tourney pitted the Aces against the CL champs North High. East handily defeated the Redskins, 69-58, after leading practically the entire game, to advance to the championship game against Shawnee Mission South.

East led the Shawnee Mission South Raiders by as many as 13 points until the familiar fourth quarter blues appeared. The Aces' lead melted down to a tie with two minutes left in the game. A few clutch free throws by Ernie Carter and Mike Asbell produced the two point victory margin over S.M. South, 46-44 and the state crown became the property of Wichita High School East.

Out of ten possible spots for "All-State" team members, five Aces were designated as "All-Staters:" Steve Cano, '72, John Buggs, '72, Jonathan Young, '73, Ernie Carter, '73, and Mike Asbell, '73. Steve Cano was named the tournament's "Most Valuable Player."

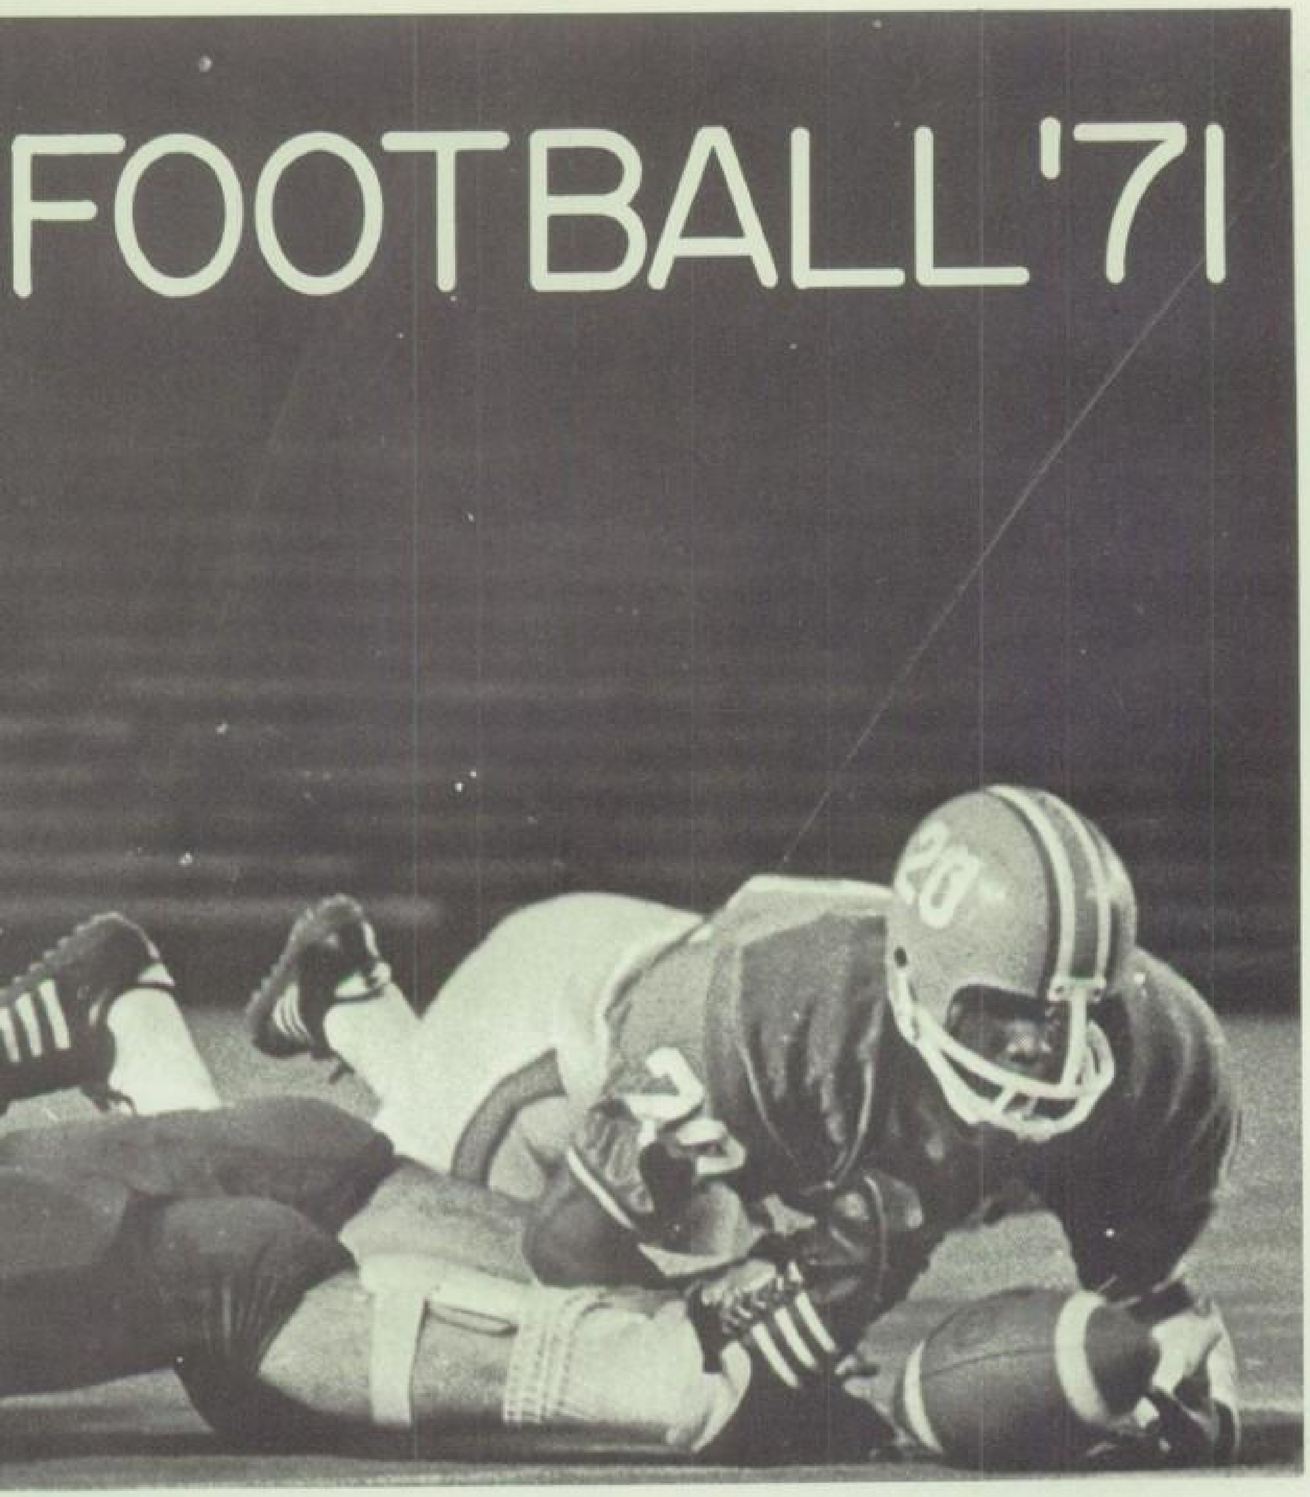
FOOTBALL '71



For those who enjoy a "good football game," East High's were great, but for students braving winds and rain just to cheer their team, the record was disappointing in the worst way.

Surely the happiest time of the entire season came when the Aces defeated Bishop Carroll 6-0 in two cold and rainy mud-filled overtimes.

Bitterest of the seven defeats came at the Heights game. Here the Aces lost 27-7 after being favored to win by at least two touchdowns.

By far the best game for East was an 18-17 victory over West. As the score indicated, this battle was hard fought from start to finish with threats of failure up to the very last minute.

Even with the scarcity of wins, talent was abundant as East placed Glenn Jacobs, Andy Craig and Ron Banks, all '72, on the city league first team. Winning second-team all city honors was defensive lineman Steve Yeager, also '72. Receiving honorable mention were seniors Dick Swisher and Chris Poulson, and juniors Lynn Coleman, Walter Young and Brian McRae.

Matmen Show Weaknesses, Improve With Experience

Youth and inexperience were trademarks of the East wrestling team as Gordon Nichols, '72, and Ray Nichols, '73, were the Aces' only returning lettermen from last year's second-place City League finish.

The grapplers wrestled in the Newton and El Dorado Invitationals and invaded Salina South in a dual meet at Salina. They also faced City League opponents in dual competition.

Mick Johnson helped coach Ken Spicher as an assistant coach, and Buck Oliphant volunteered his time after school as an unpaid assistant.

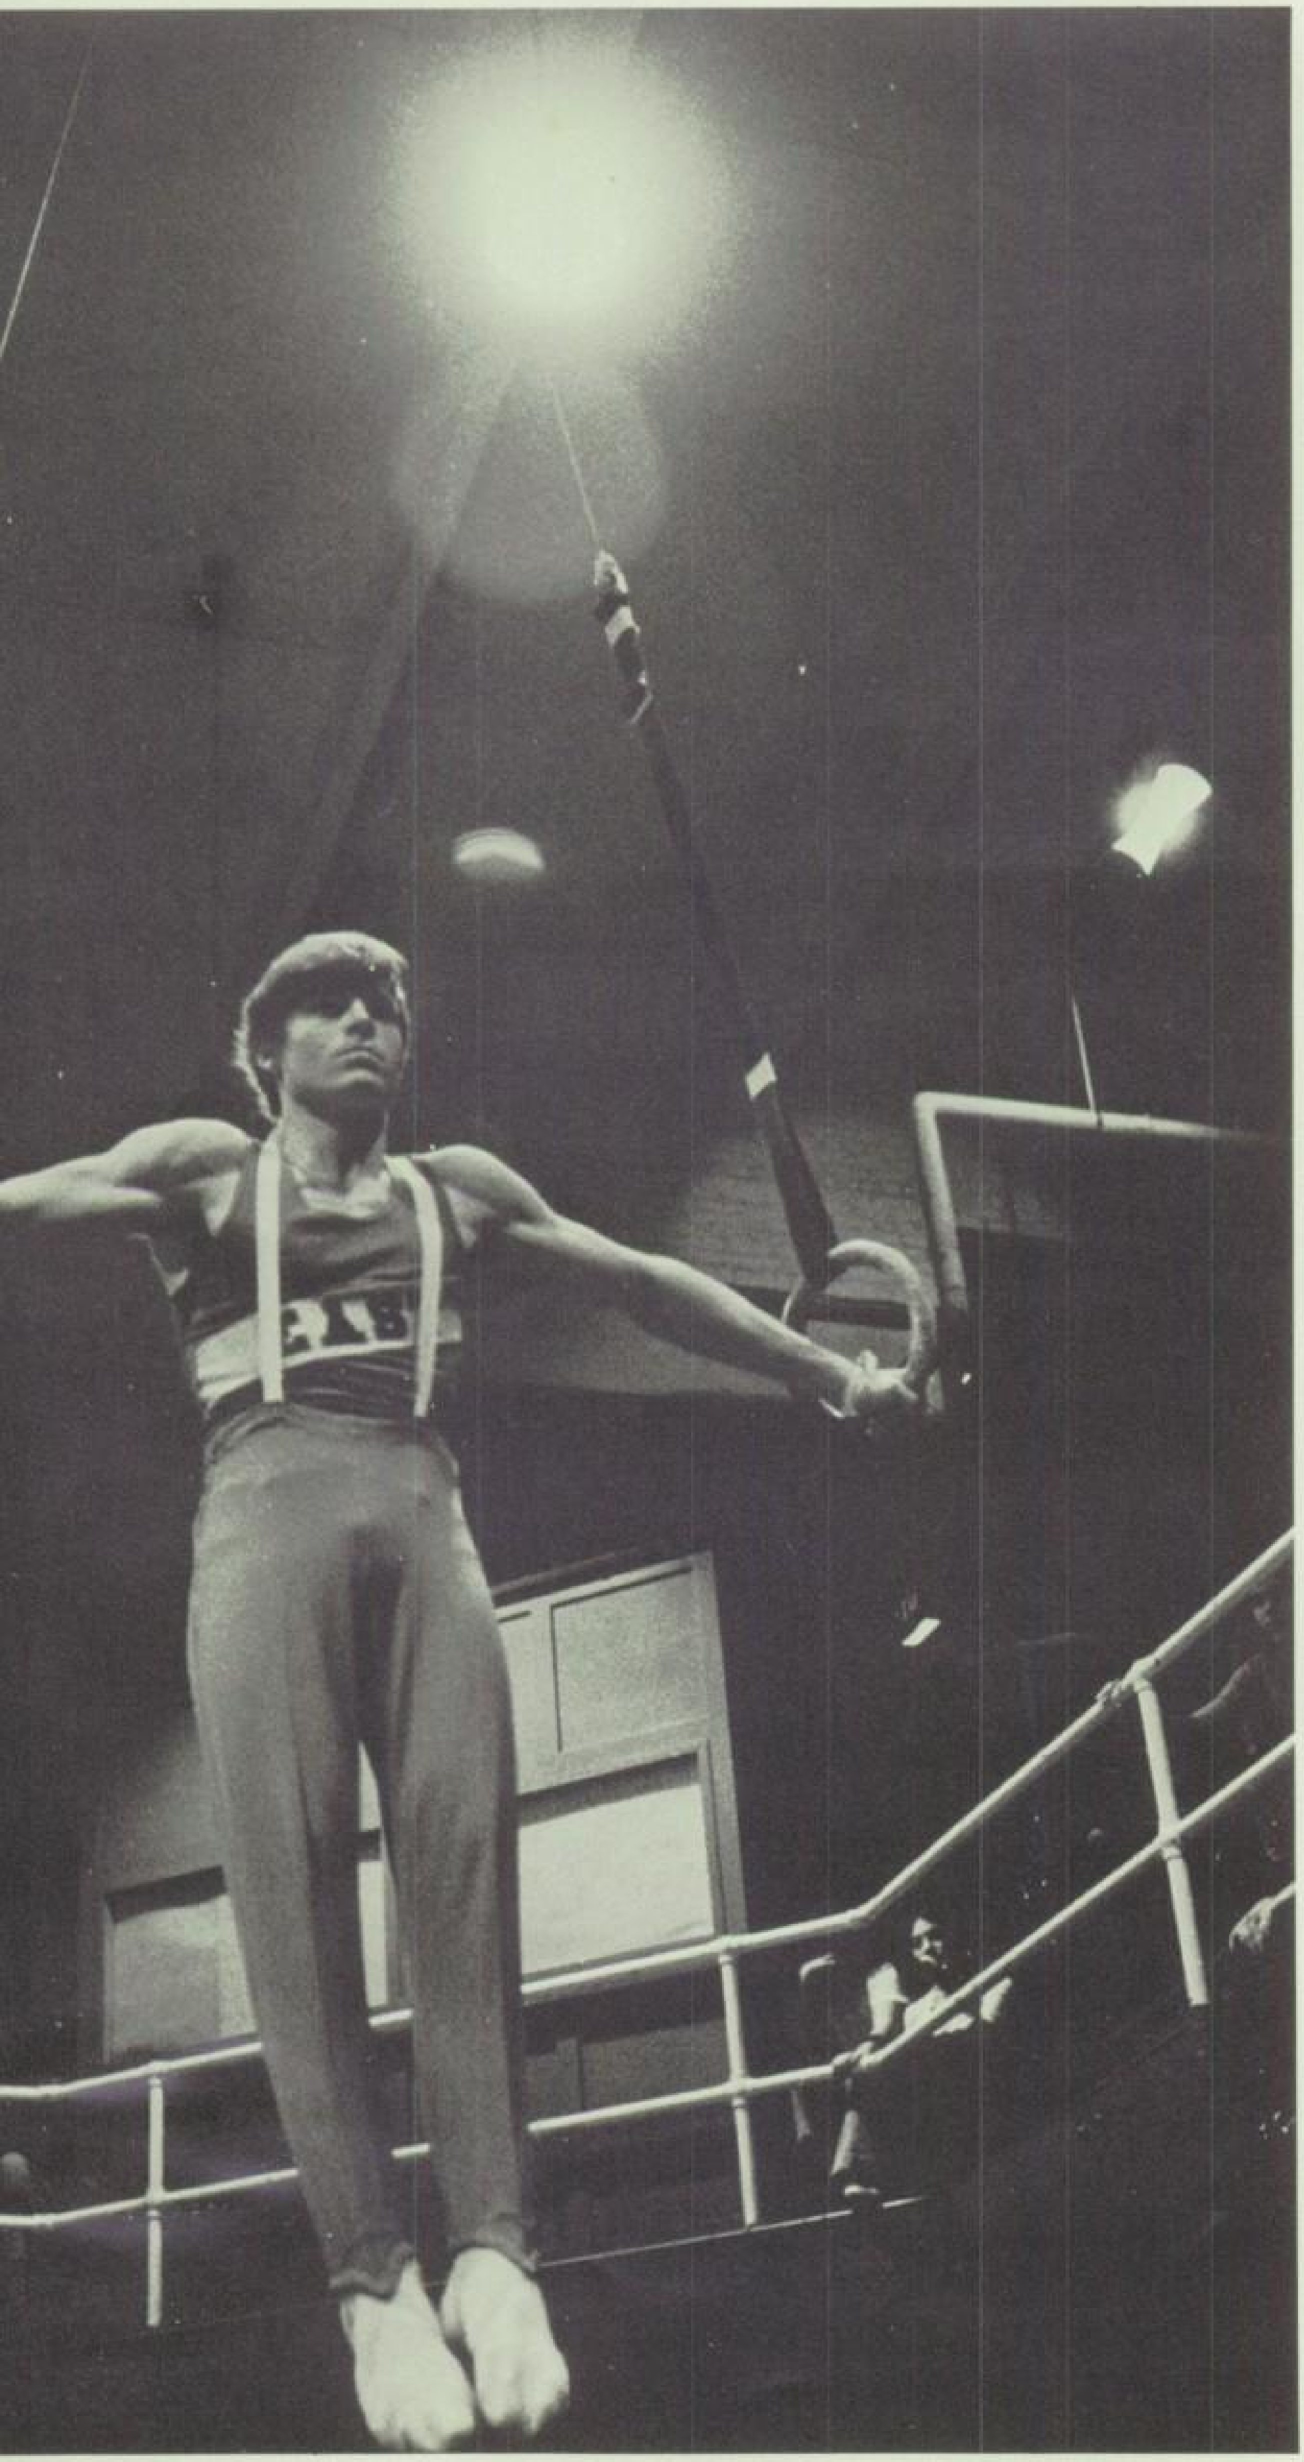
Gymnasts Almost Capture City; Take Regional Easily



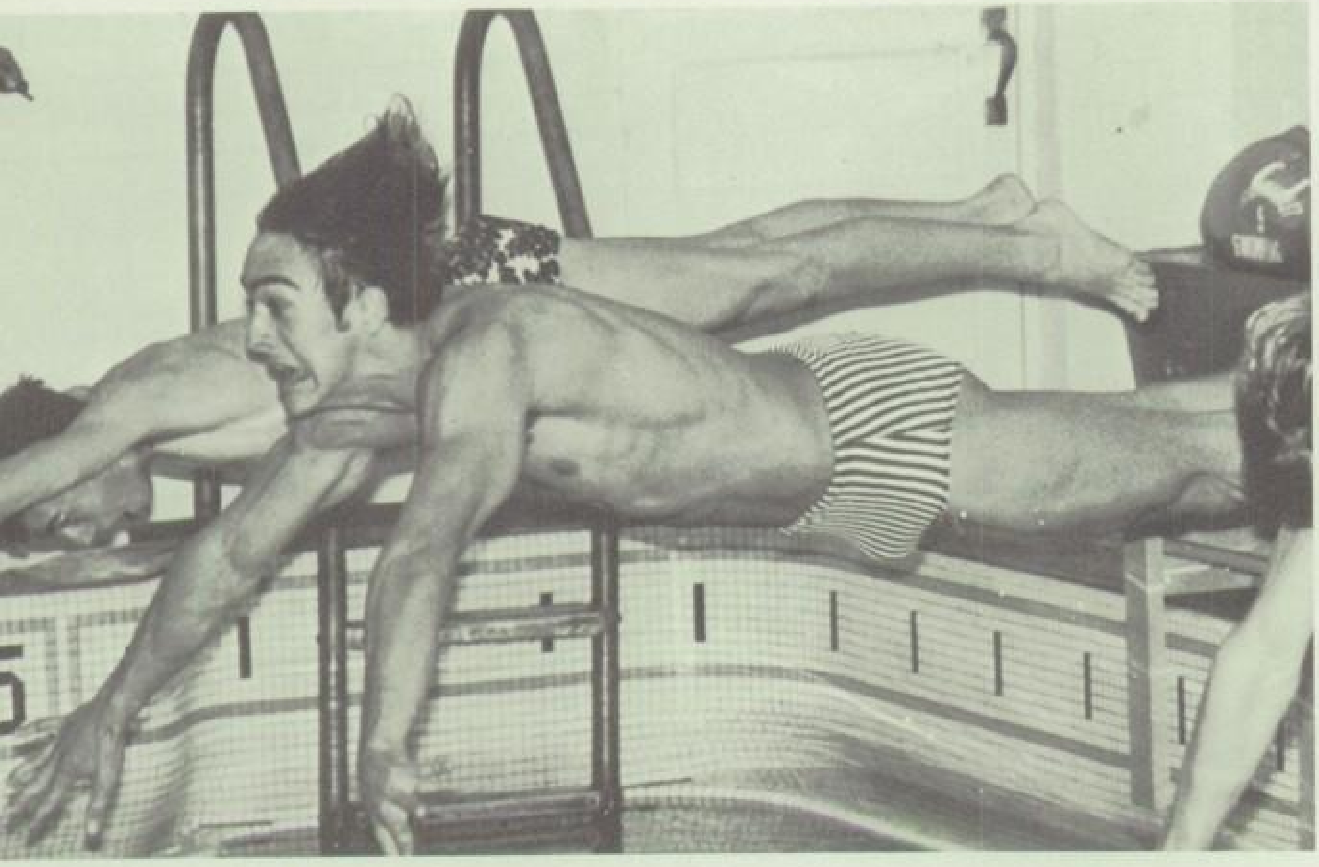
After losing the City League gymnastics title by .24 of a point (South accumulated 105.50 points to East's 105.26) the Ace gymnasts rebounded to sweep the regional gymnastics crown with 106.40 points, a 13 point margin over second place finisher South.

Dale Carr, '72, led all gymnasts in the regional tournament as he finished first in the all-around event, third in the floor exercise, second on the side-horse and second on the parallel bars. Other first place awards went to Donnie Andrews, '73, in the floor exercise, Kim Tanner, '72, on the side-horse and Paul Tucker, '72, on the horizontal bar. The remaining state tournament qualifiers were Jim Kestler, '72, Ray Lindsey, '72, Roger Hume, '73, and Jim Noland, '73.

The gymnasts lost only two dual meets all season and the losses were to state perennial contenders South and Lawrence.

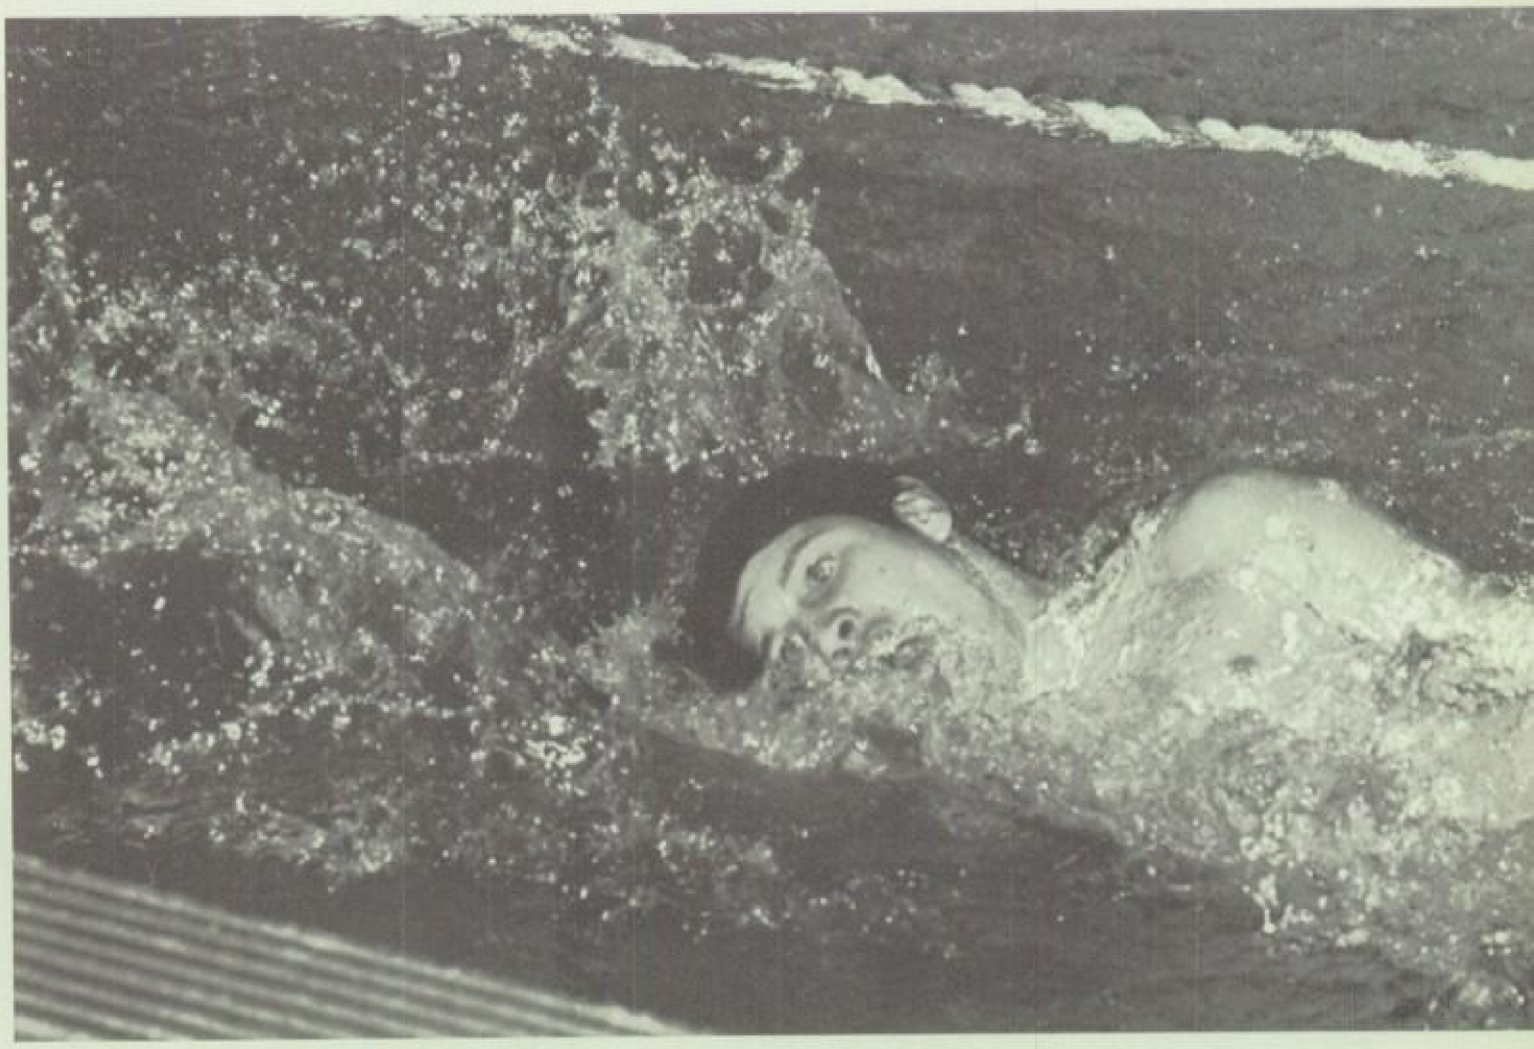
DEPTH 3 FT

Youth, Experience Bring Successful Season for Swimmers



Although young, this year's swim team was very talented. Only three seniors were on the team with the rest of the squad composed of juniors and sophomores. The return of four lettermen greatly improved the squad's capabilities. They were All-American candidate Roger Neugent, '72, Rod Harshfield, '72, Bill Funke, '73, and Greg Waldo, '73.

Practicing before and after school, swimming miles and miles, and arriving at school by 5:30 every morning typified the determination of the exuberant finmen and being part of a successful team was their only reward.



Injuries Slow Thinclads; Finish Fourth in City

The 1971 East High Cross Country team was young and inexperienced; however, they finished fourth in city, sixth in regionals and fourth in the Shawnee Mission East Invitational.

The team, coached by J.D. Edmiston, was led by Gene Pemberton, '72, and David Vaughn, '73, along with Steve Riley, '72, Phil Peake, '74, Kip Riser, '74, and Tom Carson, '73. Pemberton finished ninth in city, tenth in regionals, and was East's lone representative at the state meet, while Vaughn ran twelfth in the regionals. East will return 16 runners next year, making the future bright for the Ace thinclads.

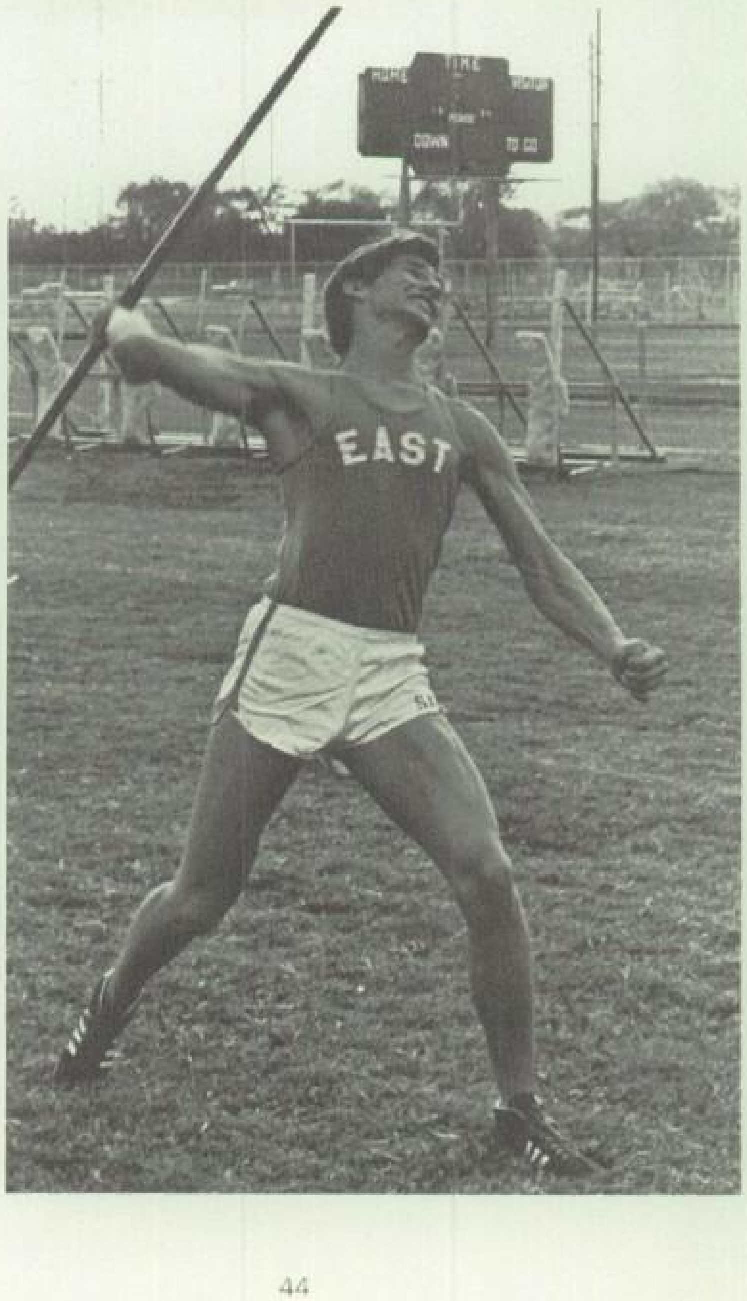
Cindermen Sprint with High Hopes and Experience

Coached by J. D. Edmiston and assisted by coaches Ray Patterson and Dick Carpenter, East High cindermen return with high hopes for this season. This year's returning lettermen include distance runner David Vaughn, '73 pole vaulters Steve Riley, '72, Jim Kessler, '72, Dale Carr, '72, and high jumper Steve Cano, '72. Other returning lettermen include discus thrower Steve Yeager, '72', and javelin throwers David Brookover, '72, and Andy Craig, '72.



Racketeers Hope for Grand Slam

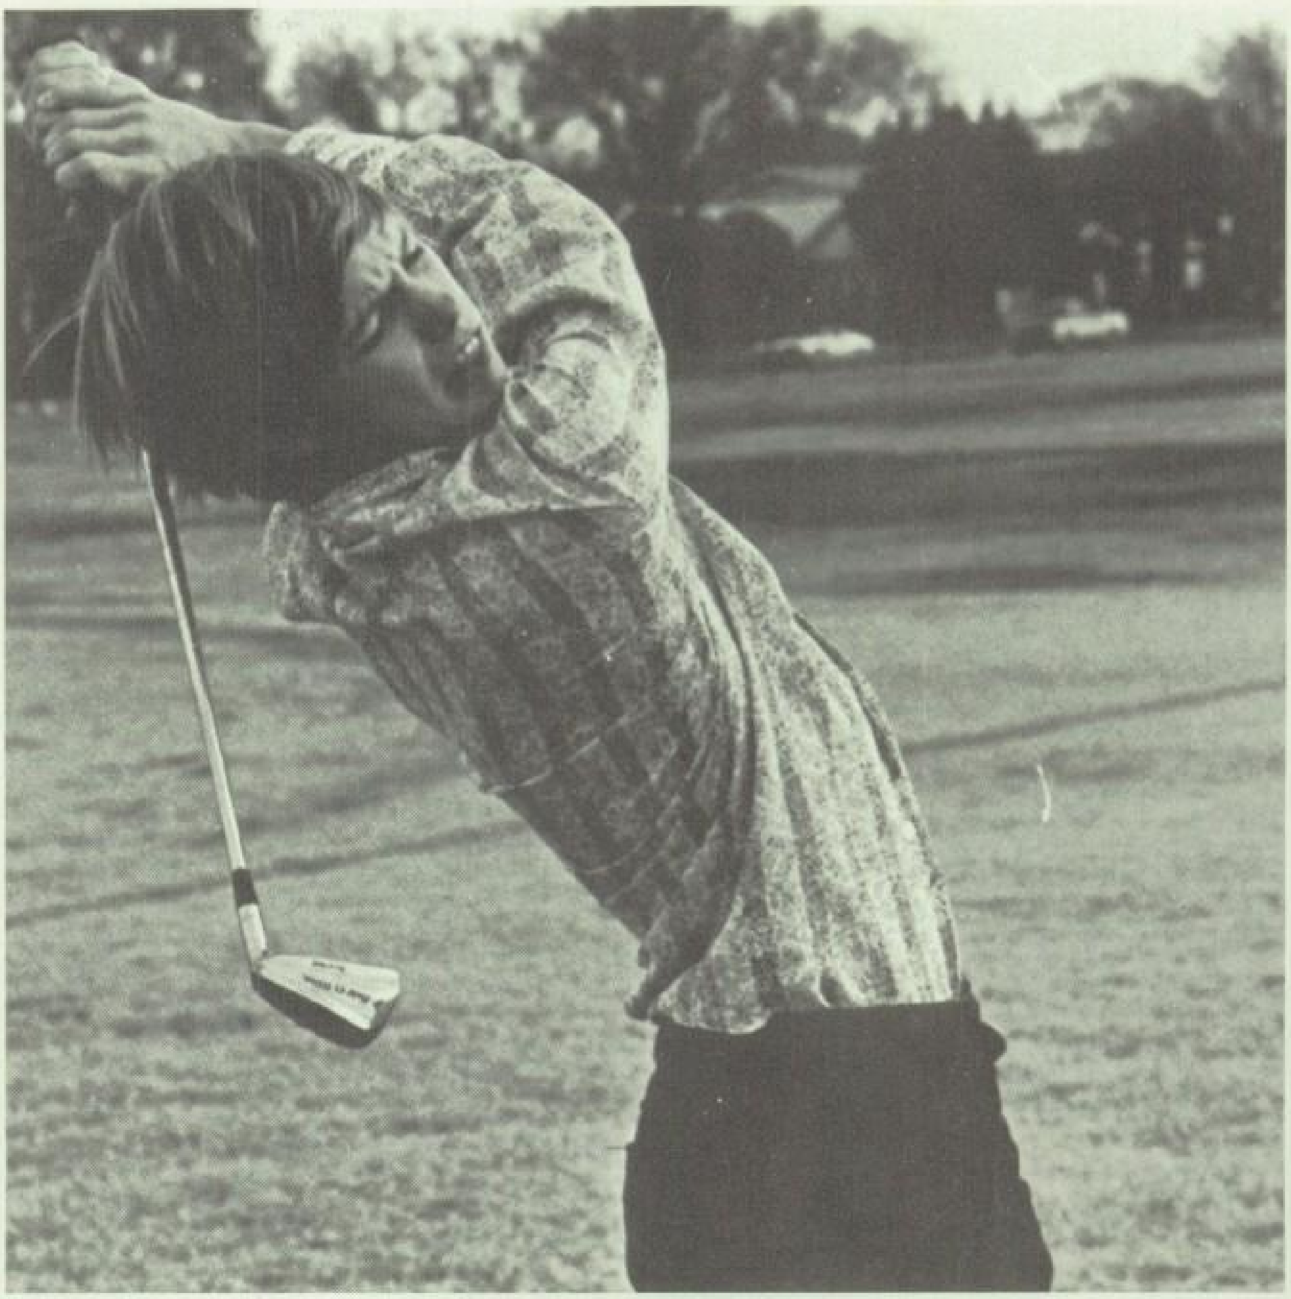
Concentration, ability, endurance and anticipation all go together to make one good tennis player. Only six men from 25 contenders will make the varsity squad, and four of those trying out, David Moses, Stan Scott, and Rick Reiff, all '72, and Dave Burton, '73, are returning lettermen.

This year's competition schedule will be no rougher than usual as the netmen face such city league foes as Southeast, South and Kapaun-Mt. Carmel. Along with the normal city and regional matches the team will travel to Hutchinson to play in the annual Hutchinson Invitational Match, where East's players will battle approximately eight other Kansas high school teams. With this year's talent, the city title can't be far away.

East Duffers Aim Straight Fore City League Title

After placing fifth in city competition a year ago, the Blue Ace golf team, led by four returning lettermen, seems a sure bet to improve on last year's record. Coach Ken Spicher returns juniors Gary Chilton, Robbie Engen, Warren Snyder and sophomore Terry Taylor to his squad.

The squad's schedule for this year includes a trip to Salina to compete in the annual Salina Invitational. In addition to the Salina meet, the Aces participate in city and regional meets.



Diamond Men Eye No. 1 Spot

Last year's baseball team came up with a surprise . . . they finished the season fourth in the state. This year, however, the team has a new goal in mind, and that is to become the number one team of all Kansas high schools.

Heading the lineup for this year's baseball team will be catcher Glen Jacobs, '72, outfielder Tim O'Byrne, '72, shortstop Kenny Brane, '73, outfielder Mike Asbell, '73, and pitcher Brian Rhodes, '73.

With the coaching of head coach Don Bowin and assistant Mike Blue, this year's team does seem to be one of East's strongest.

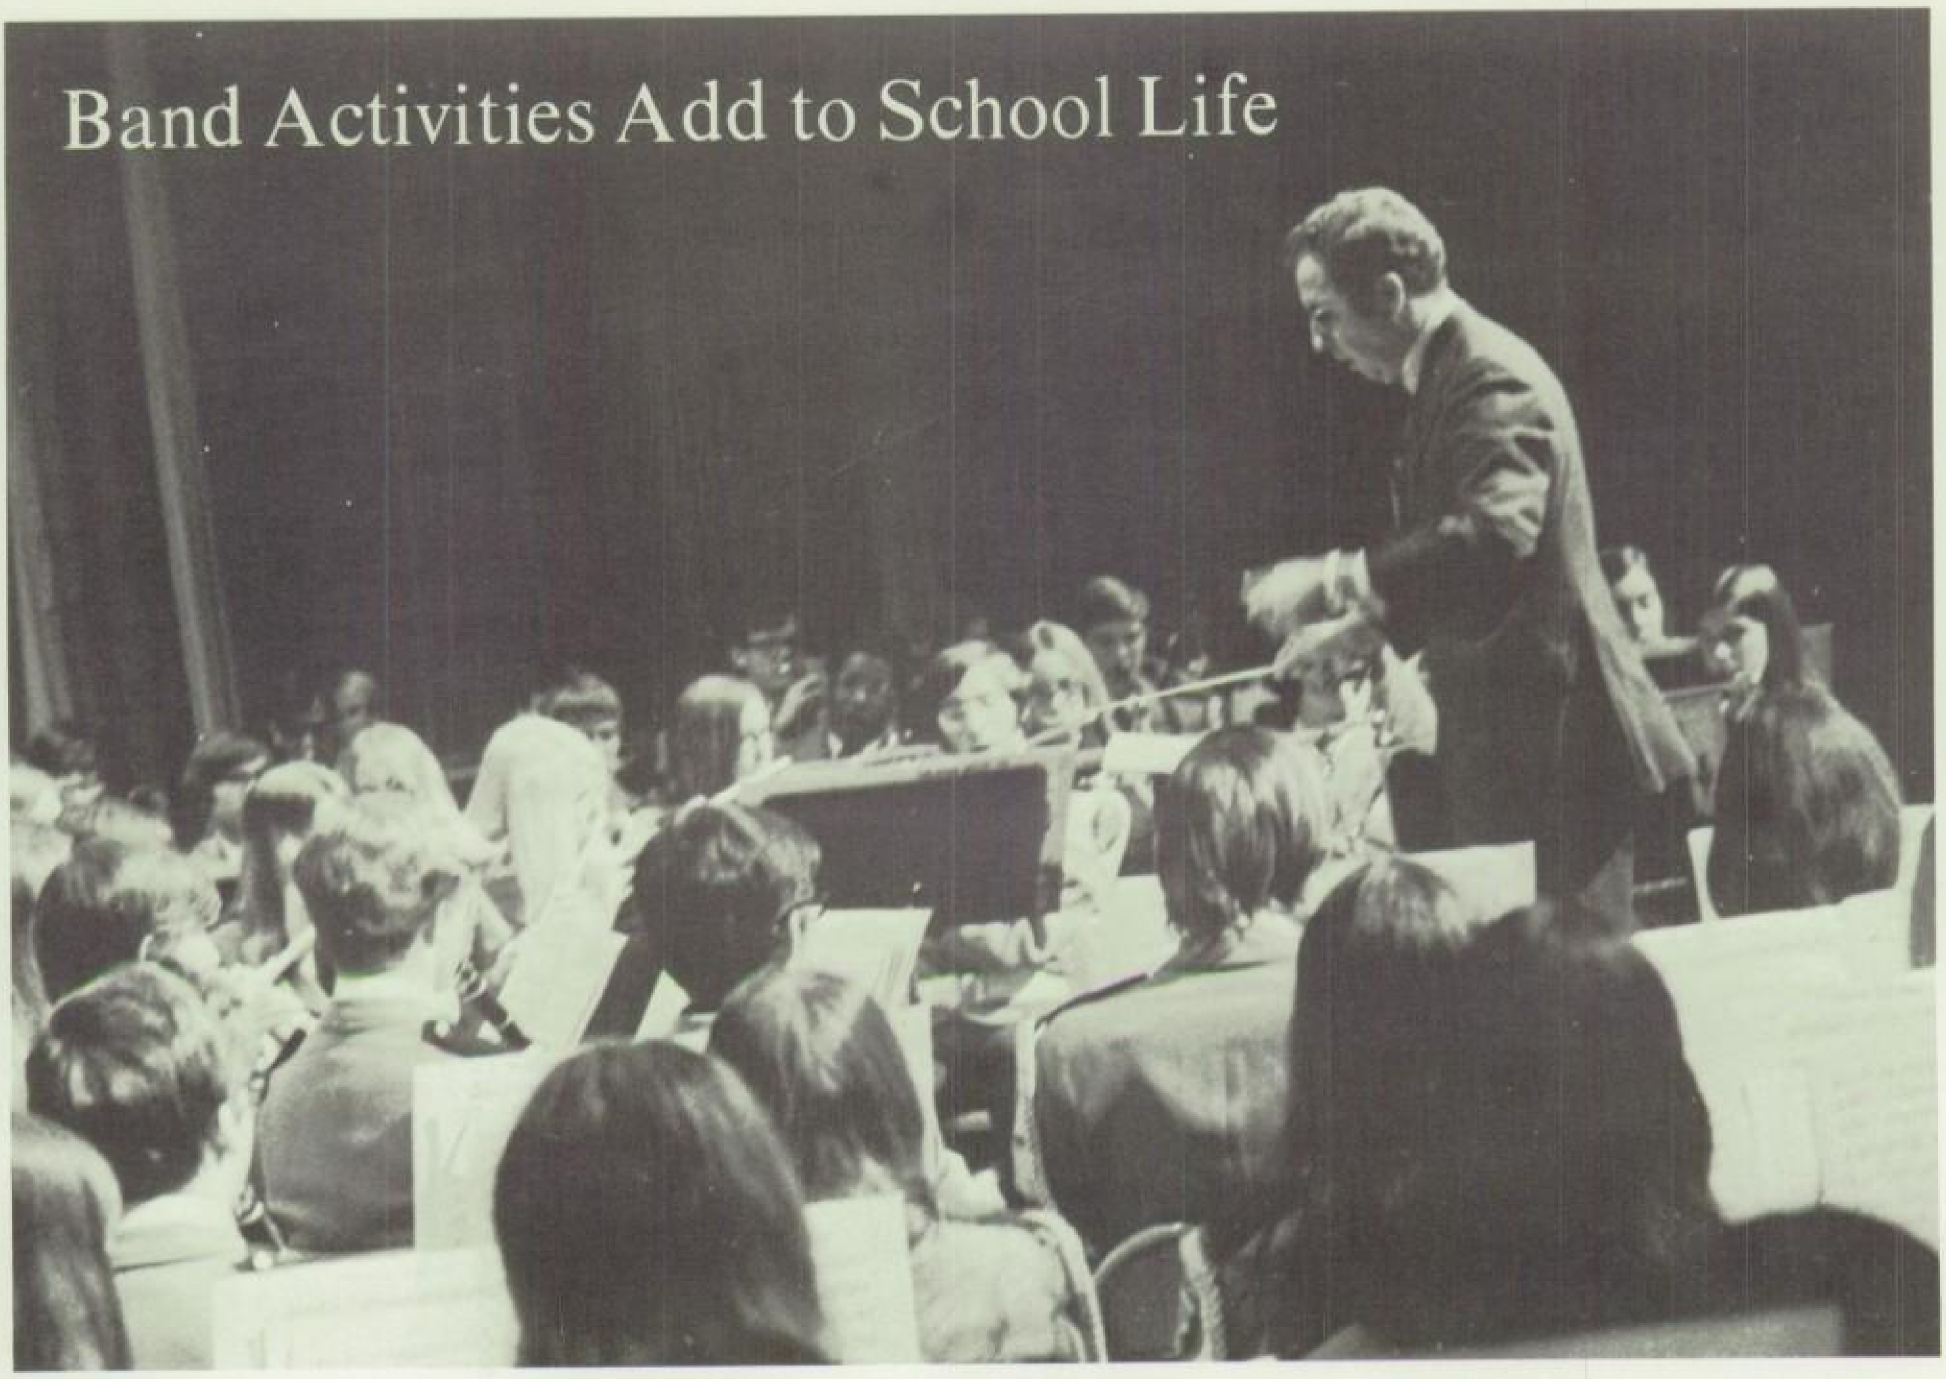
Band Activities Add to School Life



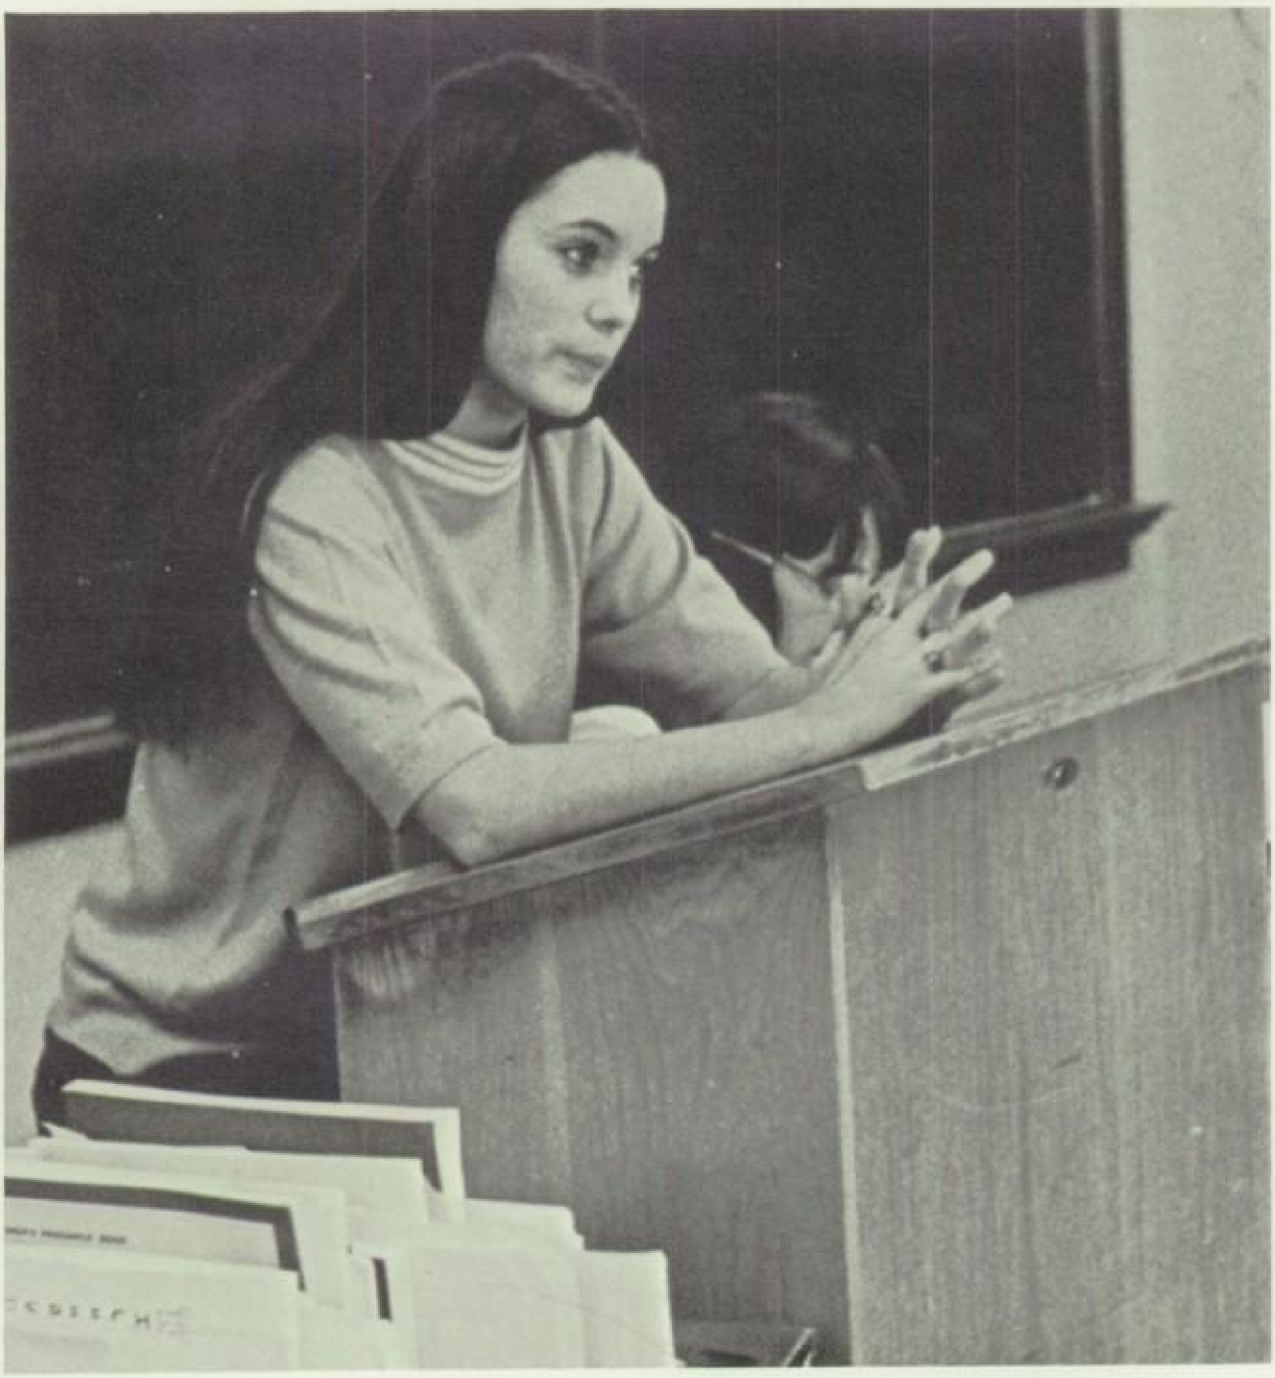
The activities of the East High concert band made up a busy schedule for the 1971-72 school year. Two special programs were a fall concert in December and a winter concert in February. In April, the band participated in the city and state musical festivals. Highlights of the year were a spring outdoor concert in May and one out-of-town trip.

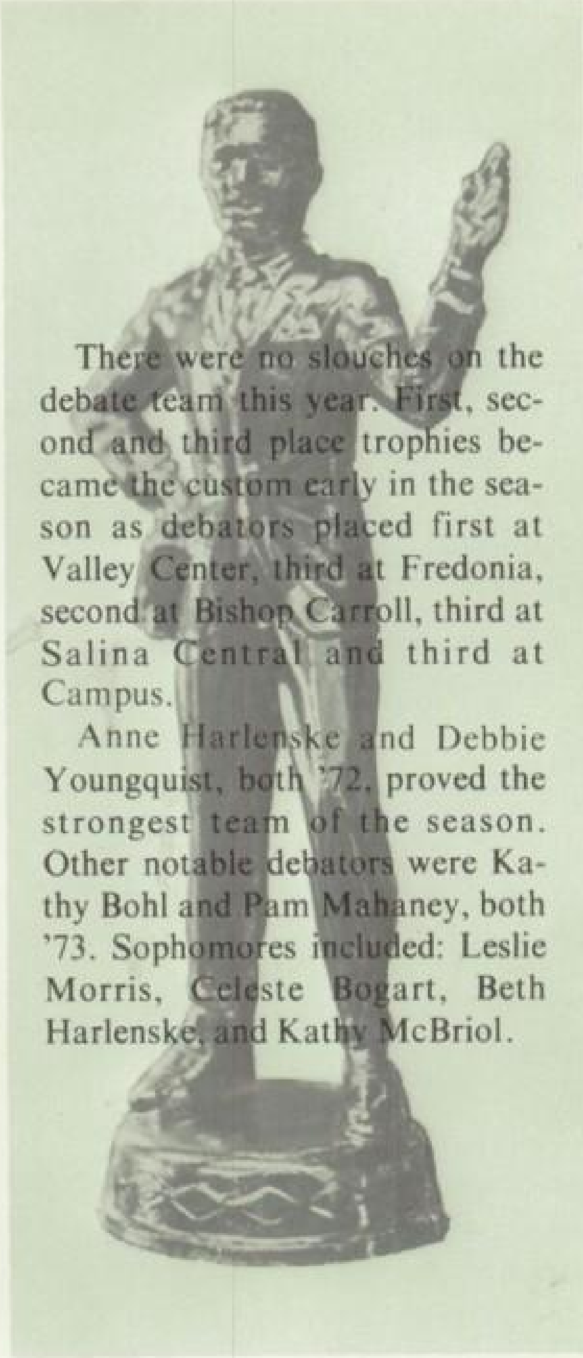
East's student body received a special assembly in November when the orchestra gave its fall concert. The orchestra also gave a winter concert in February and performed the Messiah with the vocal music department in March.

One organization that East's basketball and football teams, cheerleaders and student body count on for support in school activities is the Pep Band. The band's performances added to school spirit in all the activities.

The 1971-72 school year yielded impressive activities for the East High Marching Band, directed by Bob Gleason. Performances included those at five football games plus participation in the WSU Massed Band Day and the WSU Band Day in which East received ratings of a I and two II's. Other activities were a concert at the Kiva Center and playing as the featured band at the last home game of the Aeros baseball team. Marching Band also worked towards a goal of $15,000 needed for new band uniforms. Only $8,000 had been raised by November 15, and the band hoped to finance the concert portion of the new uniforms by spring.

Debate Squads Capture Trophy After Trophy





There were no slouches on the debate team this year. First, second and third place trophies became the custom early in the season as debators placed first at Valley Center, third at Fredonia, second at Bishop Carroll, third at Salina Central and third at Campus.

Anne Harlenske and Debbie Youngquist, both '72, proved the strongest team of the season. Other notable debators were Kathy Bohl and Pam Mahaney, both '73. Sophomores included: Leslie Morris, Celeste Bogart, Beth Harlenske, and Kathy McBriol.

Lady Athletes Fight for Top Spot in All Sports

Girls participated in a wide variety of sports, competing in both intramural and interscholastic competition. The sports program included a different type of intramural sport — fencing. Girls attending fencing intramurals learned the fundamentals of fencing and competed againist one another. Other sports in the girls' program included: tennis, volleyball, gymnastics, softball, bowling and letter swimming. The girls' interscholastic tennis team was very successful, losing only to Southeast in City League play. At the City League tournament, two East girls, Julie Ritchie, '73, and Mary Broadie, '73, were both finalists in the singles division. Mary Broadie won first place and Julie Ritchie finished second in the tournament. The girls' interscholastic varsity volleyball team was rather disappointing, winning only two out of five matches. However, they showed great improvement throughout the season, winning their last two matches. The varsity basketball team showed great improvement over last year's season. Many girls participated in gymnastics and letter swimming. The gymnastics team competed in five city meets while the girls' letter swimming included such activities as endurance swimming and life saving. The varsity and "B" softball teams competed in five city games.

Girls' sports proved to be very exciting this year, but few people attended the games. The girls participating showed great skill and were determined to make a mark in the world of women's athletics.

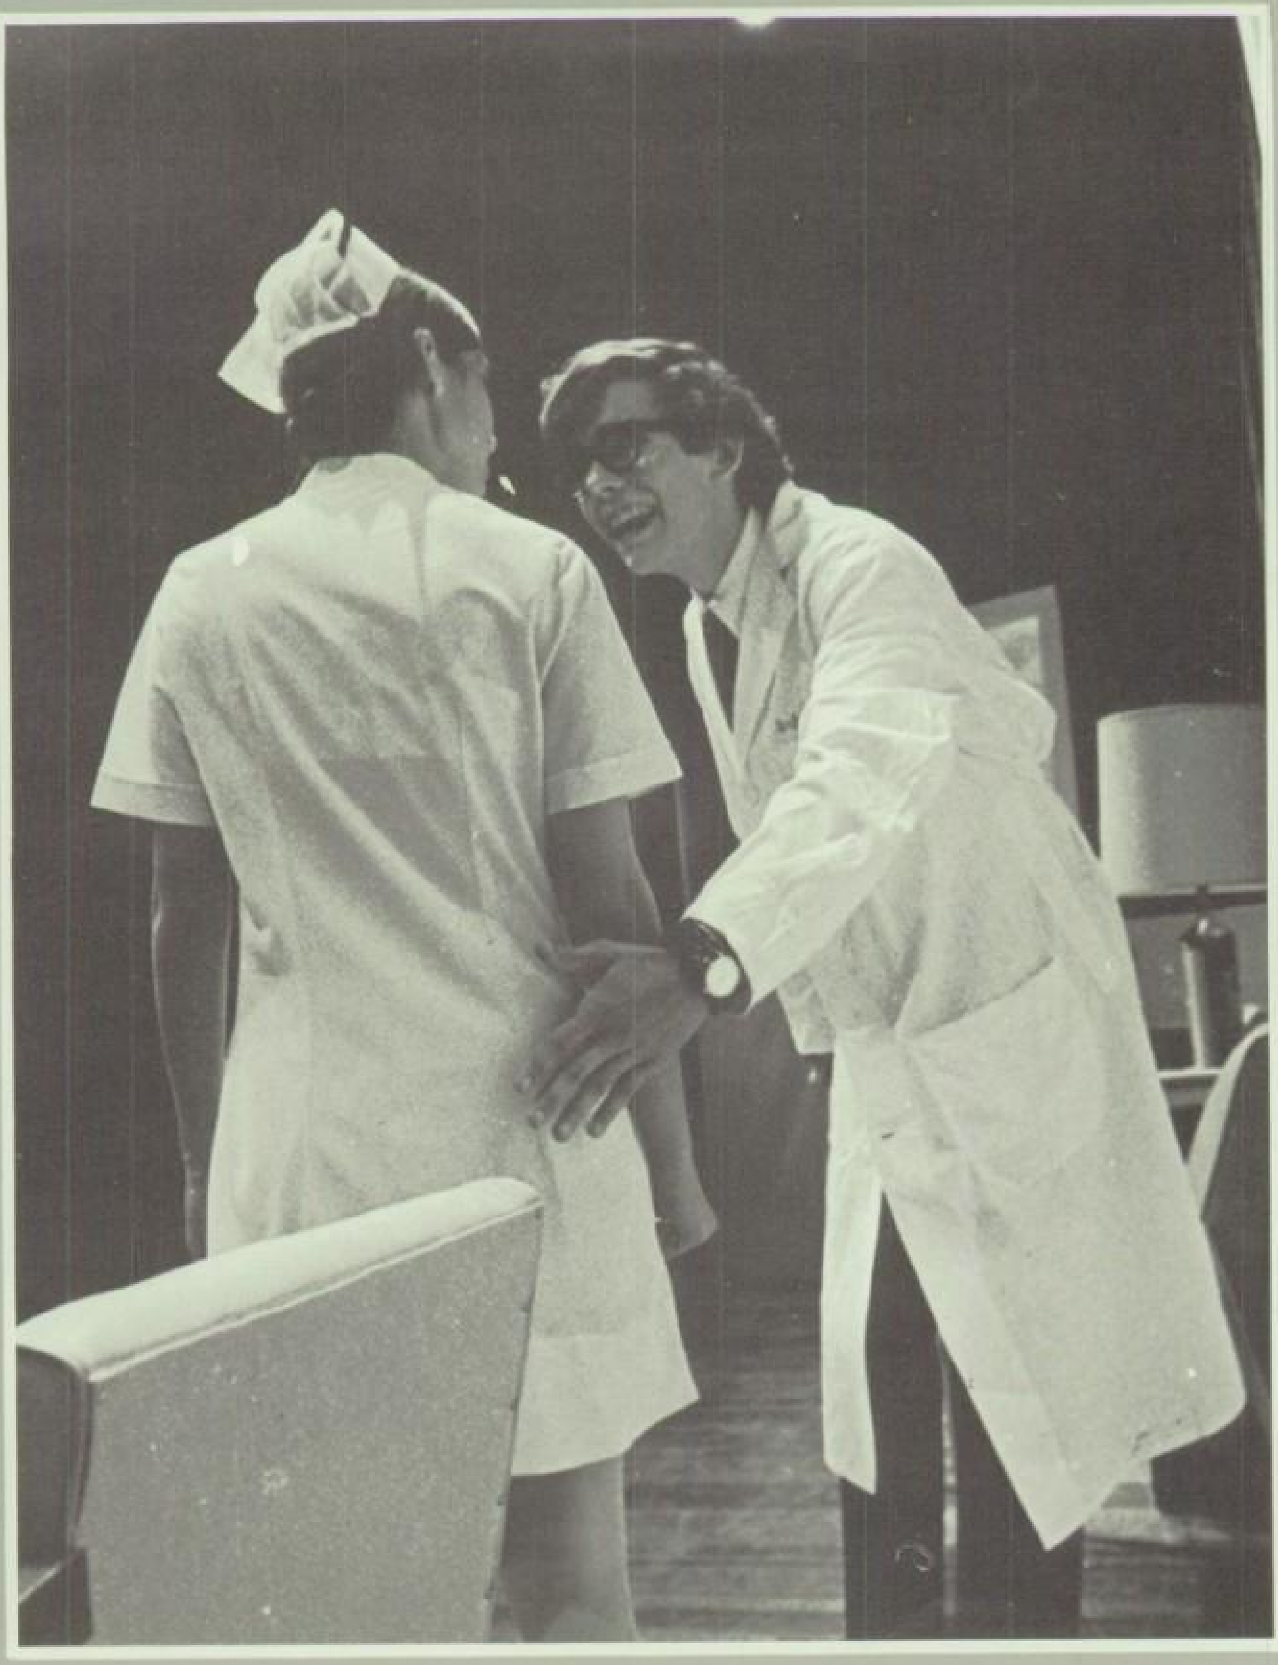
"Harvey" Receives Mixed Emotions; Content of Production Criticized

East's first play this year was "Harvey." It portrayed a middle aged bachelor who befriended a six foot tall rabbit named Harvey and the comic confusion that ensured.

Four members of the cast, David Weills, '72, Judi Jabara, '73, Debbie Tarleton, '73, and Steve Worley, '73, were veterans from last year. The rest of the cast was on stage for the first time in "Harvey." Nevertheless, several members remarked that everything went smoothly as planned. Some people who saw the play commented that it was mediocre, perhaps not the fault of the cast, but of the play itself. Others thought it was good, due to the cast, crew and director.

David Weills was the lead character, Elwood P. Dowd. Other main actors were Frankie Nordstrom as Myrtle Mae Simmons, Debbie Tarleton as Veta Louise Simmons, Ray Lindsey as Lyman Sanderson, M.D., and Mike Barton as William R. Chumley, M.D.



Drama Cast Brings Life to Charles Schulz' 'Peanuts'

Charles Schulz's famous comic strip came alive as the East High Drama Department performed the musical, "You're a Good Man, Charlie Brown".

The play combined music and acting into a synthesis which flowed smoothly from the tragedy of Charlie Brown and his "it'll-never-fly" kite through the psychiatric analysis by Lucy of why Charlie was a nobody into the exciting dogfight between Snoopy and the notorious Red Baron.

As Snoopy and Patty went rabbit-stalking, Lucy told Linus how snow grew out of the ground and man received fur from fir trees.

The play was directed by Robert Washburn and presented February 18 & 19 in the East High auditorium.

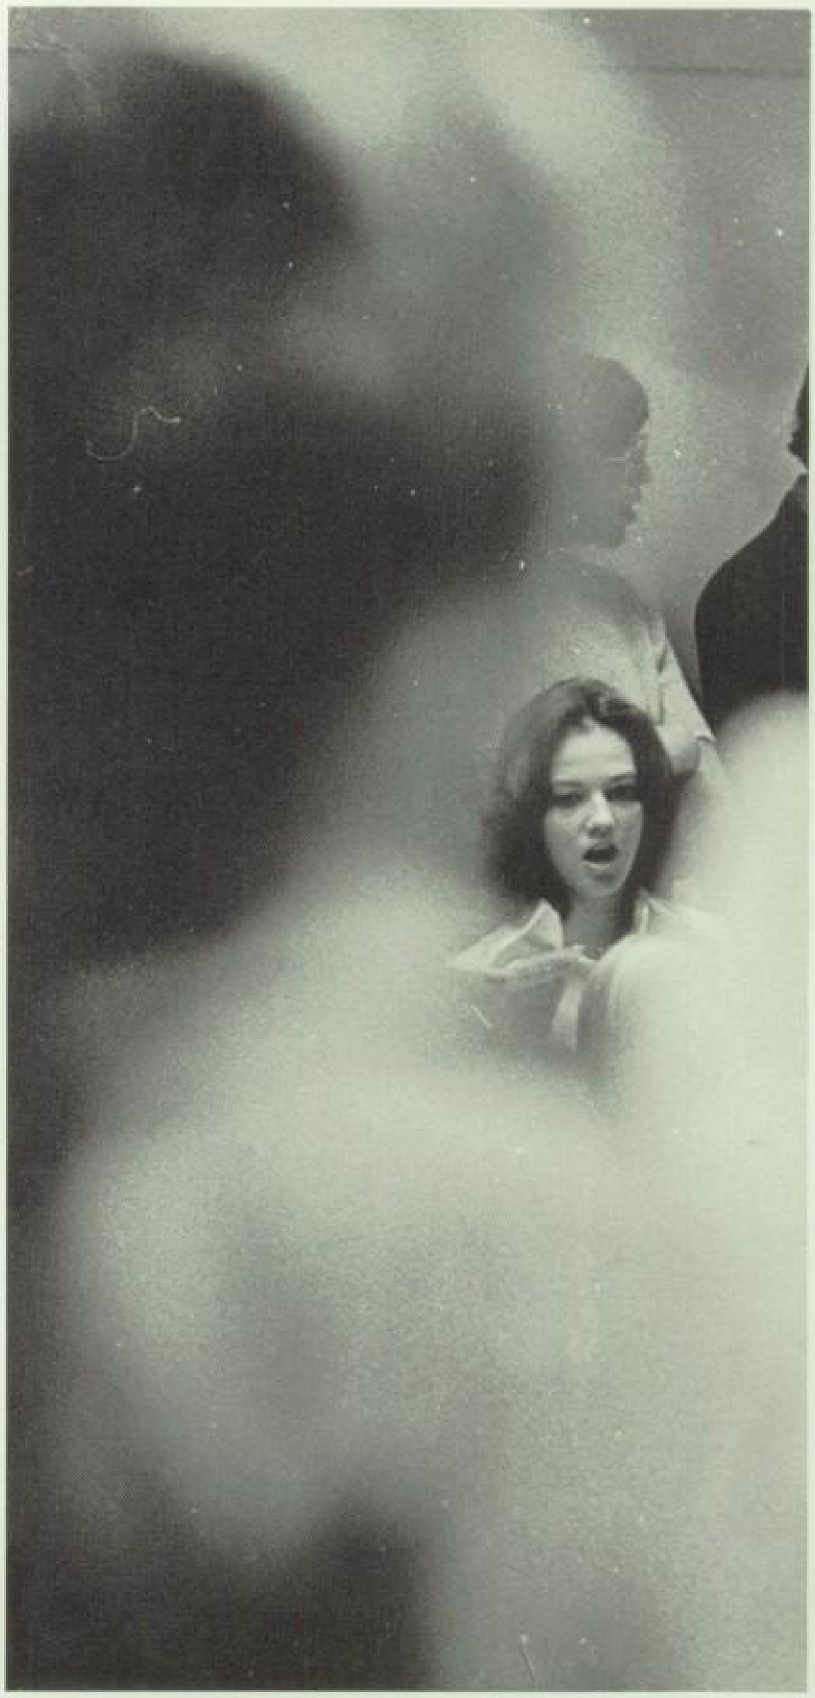
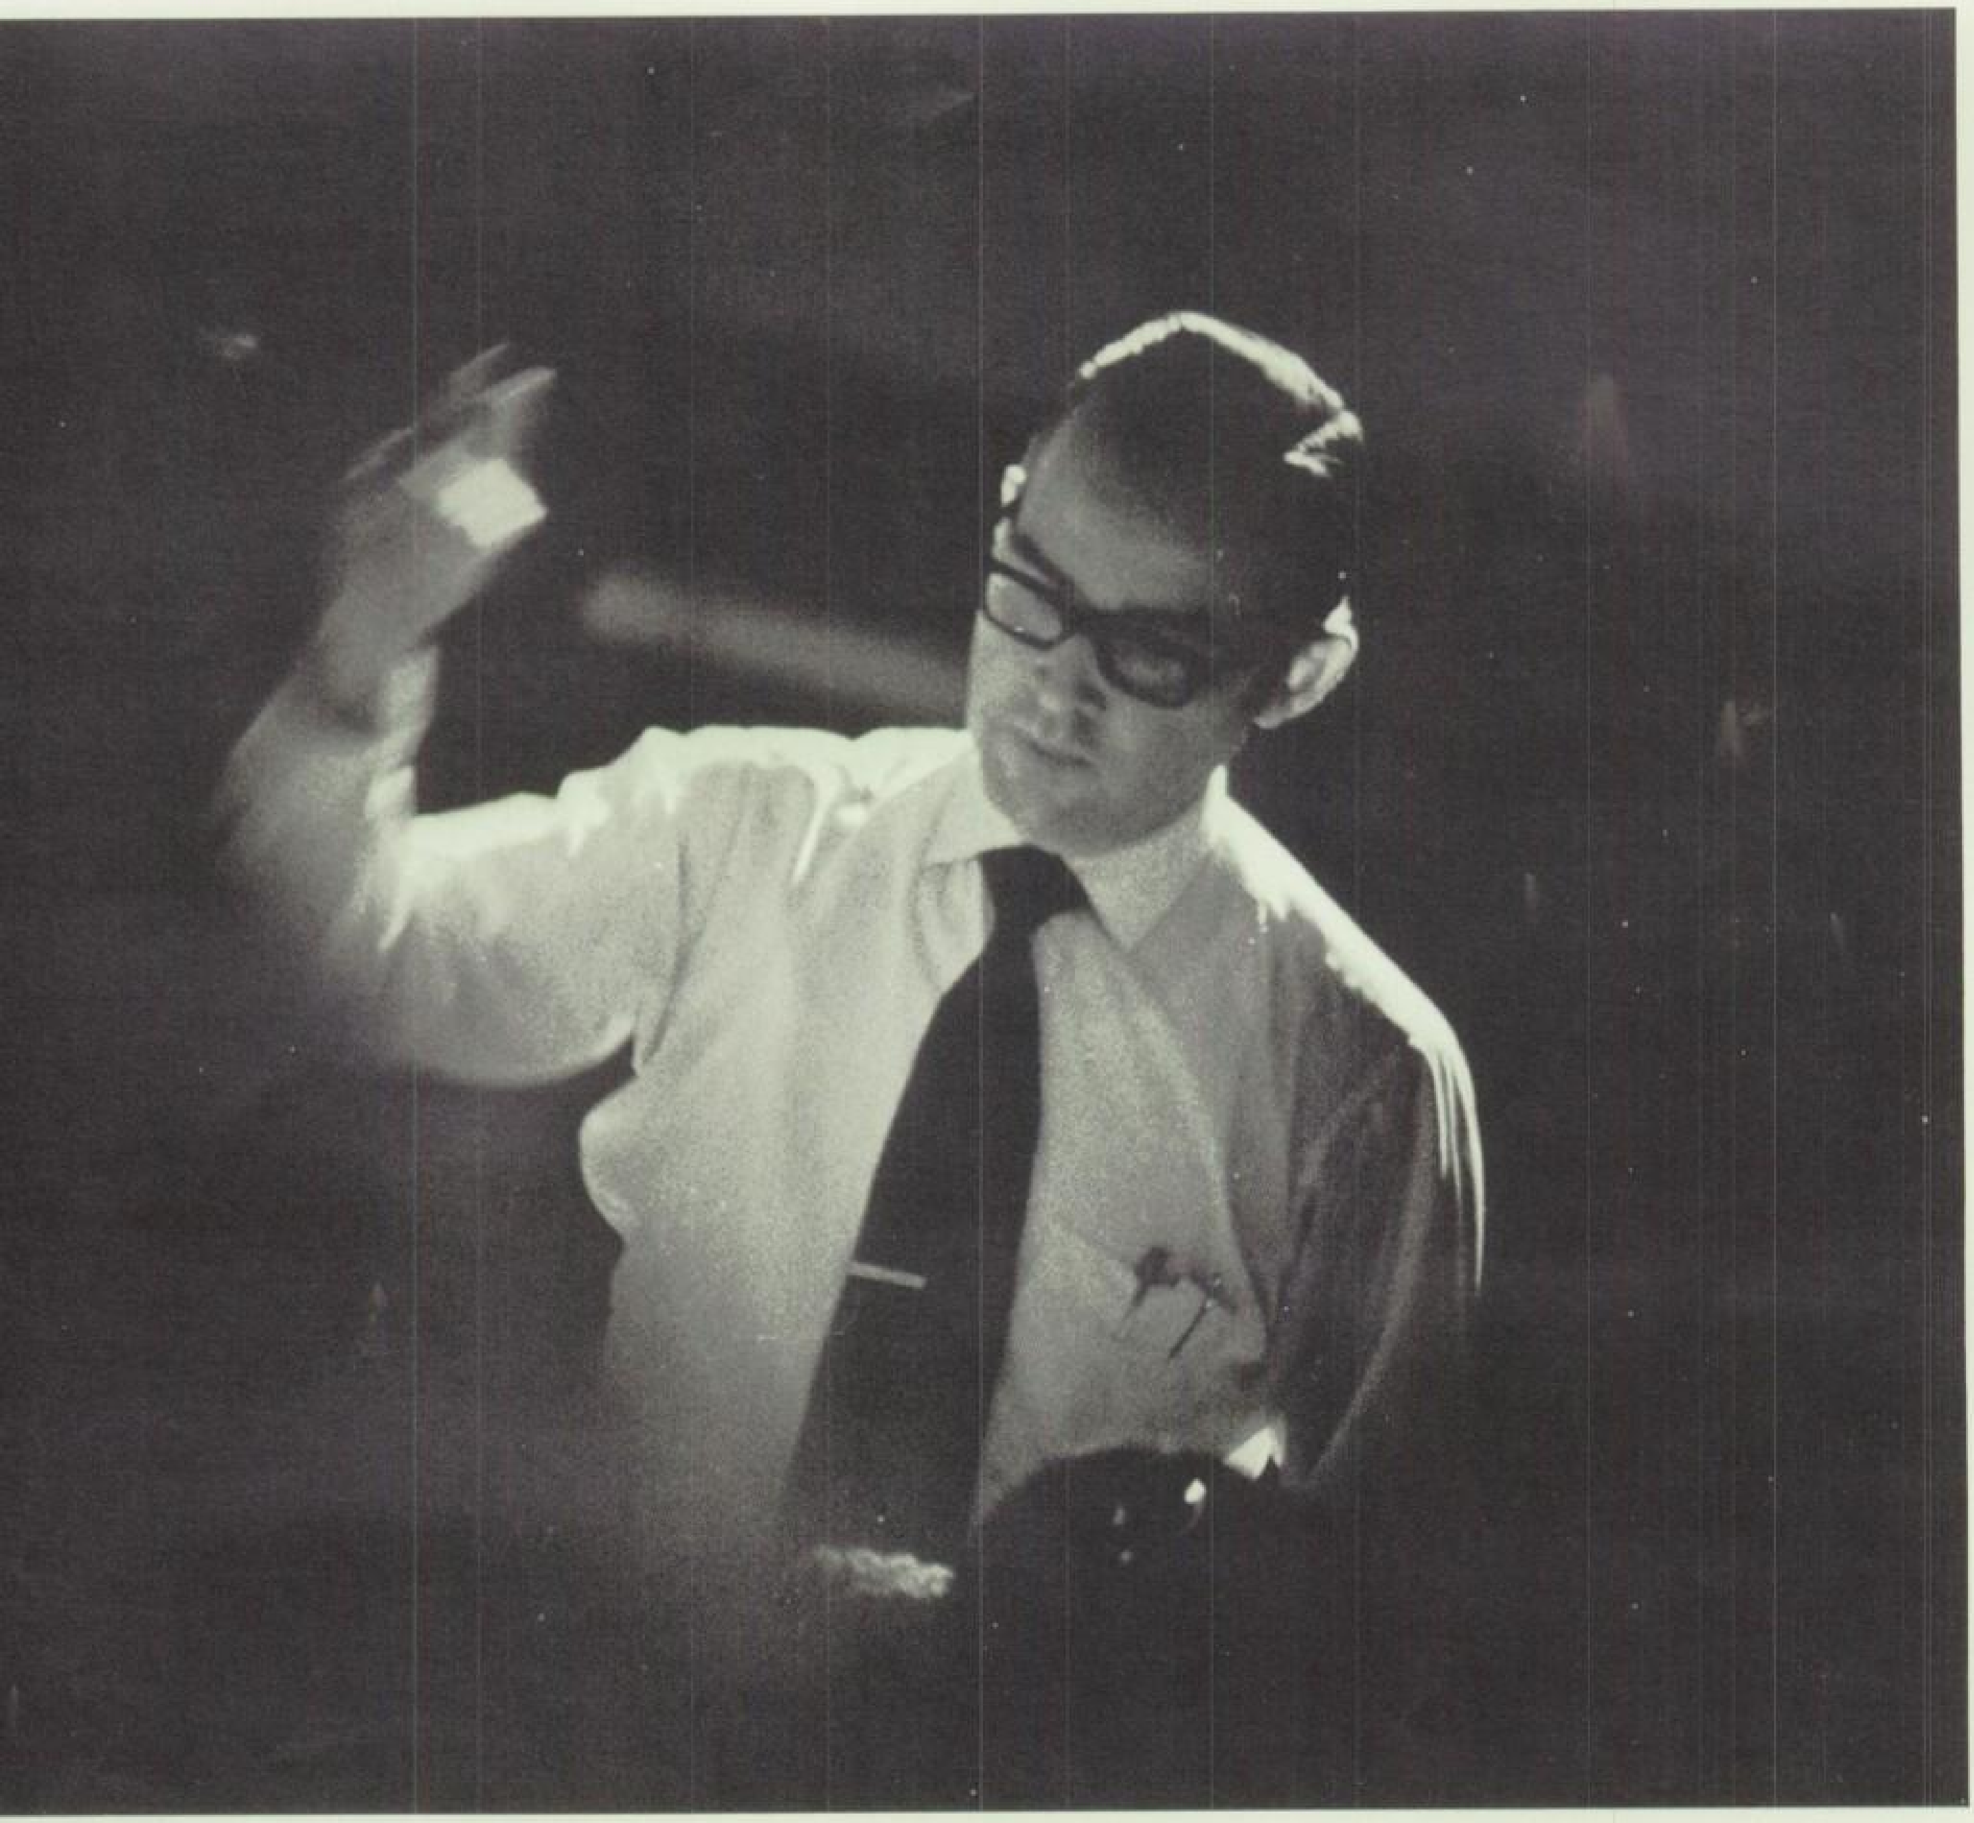
Vocalists Perform "Messiah"



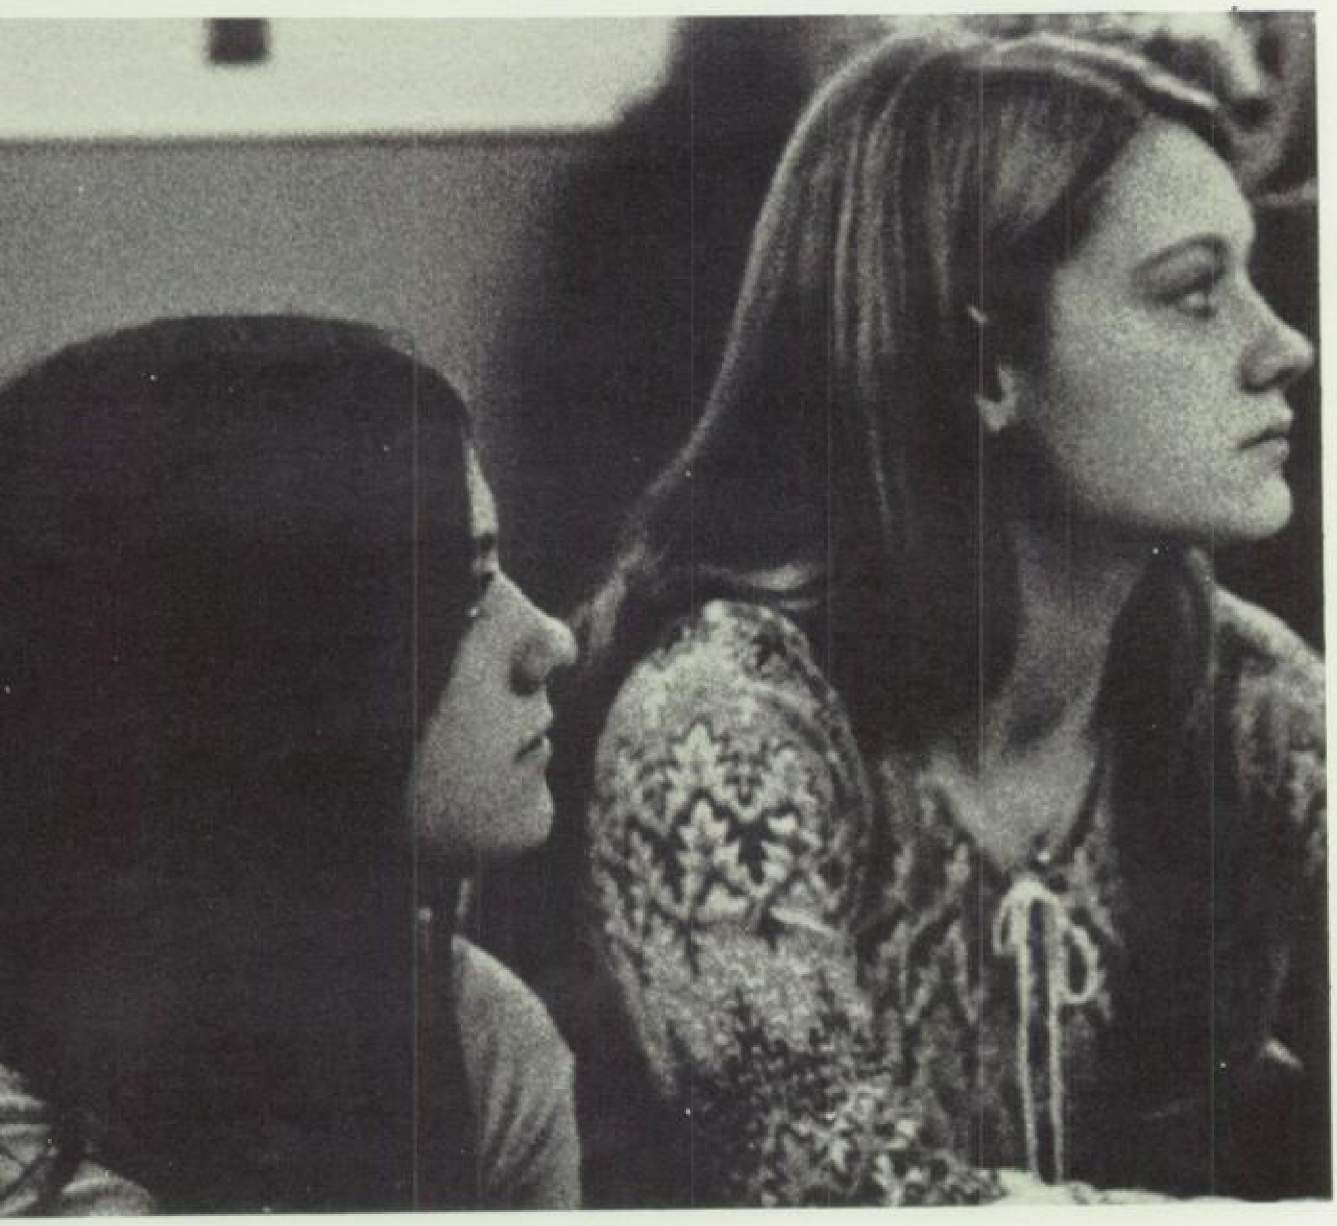
Preparing for concerts and planning for trips kept the vocal music department busy this year. Their first concert was held on Oct. 26, and was followed by their afternoon Christmas concert Dec. 19. The "Messiah," a medley of songs depicting the life of Christ, was performed at Easter. As a money raising project the department sold candy for a trip to Towanda. Officers in charge of this project were Steve Cano, '72, president; Karren Bond, '72, vice-president, and Darcy Friesen, '72, secretary-treasurer.

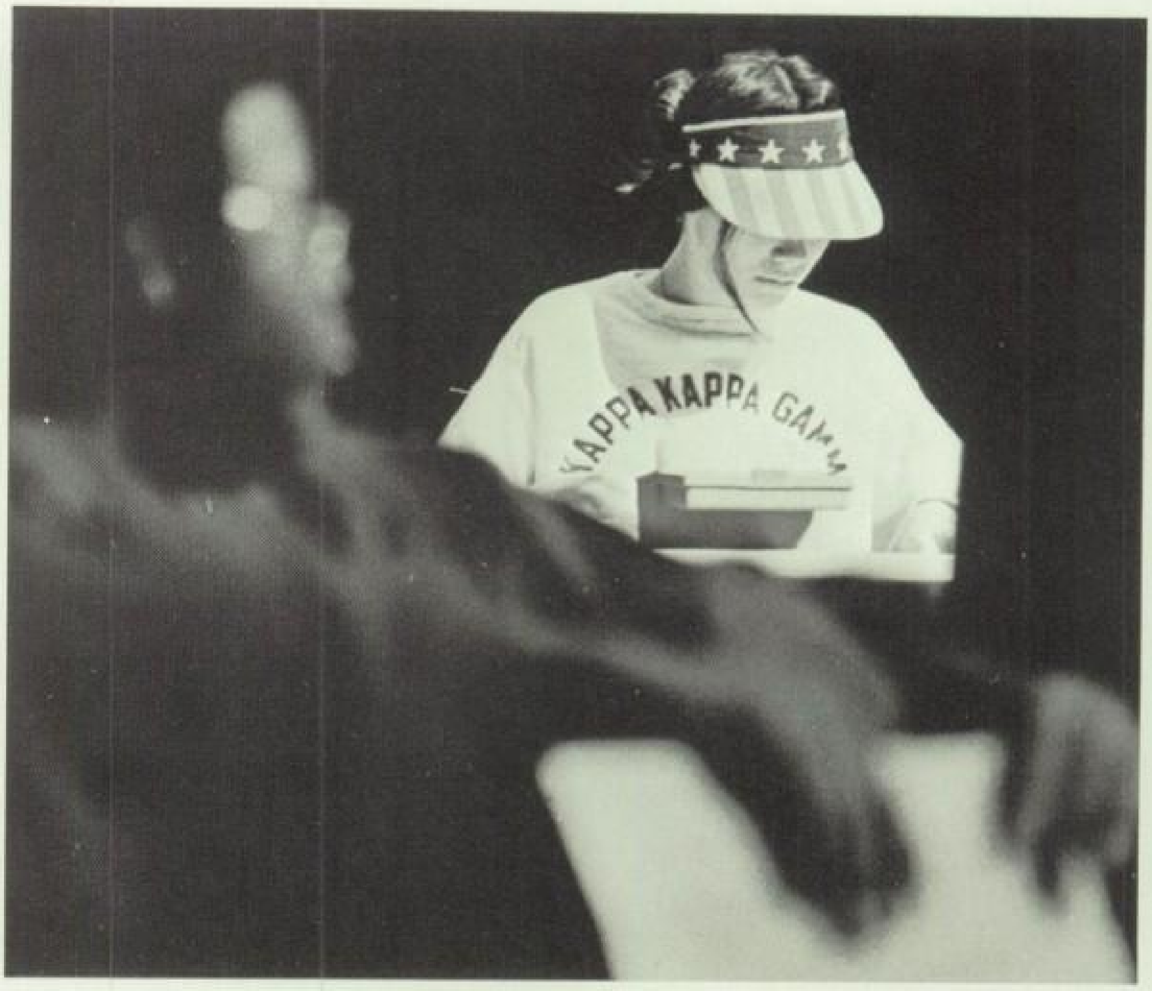


Student Government Lacks Power, Prompts Criticism From Students

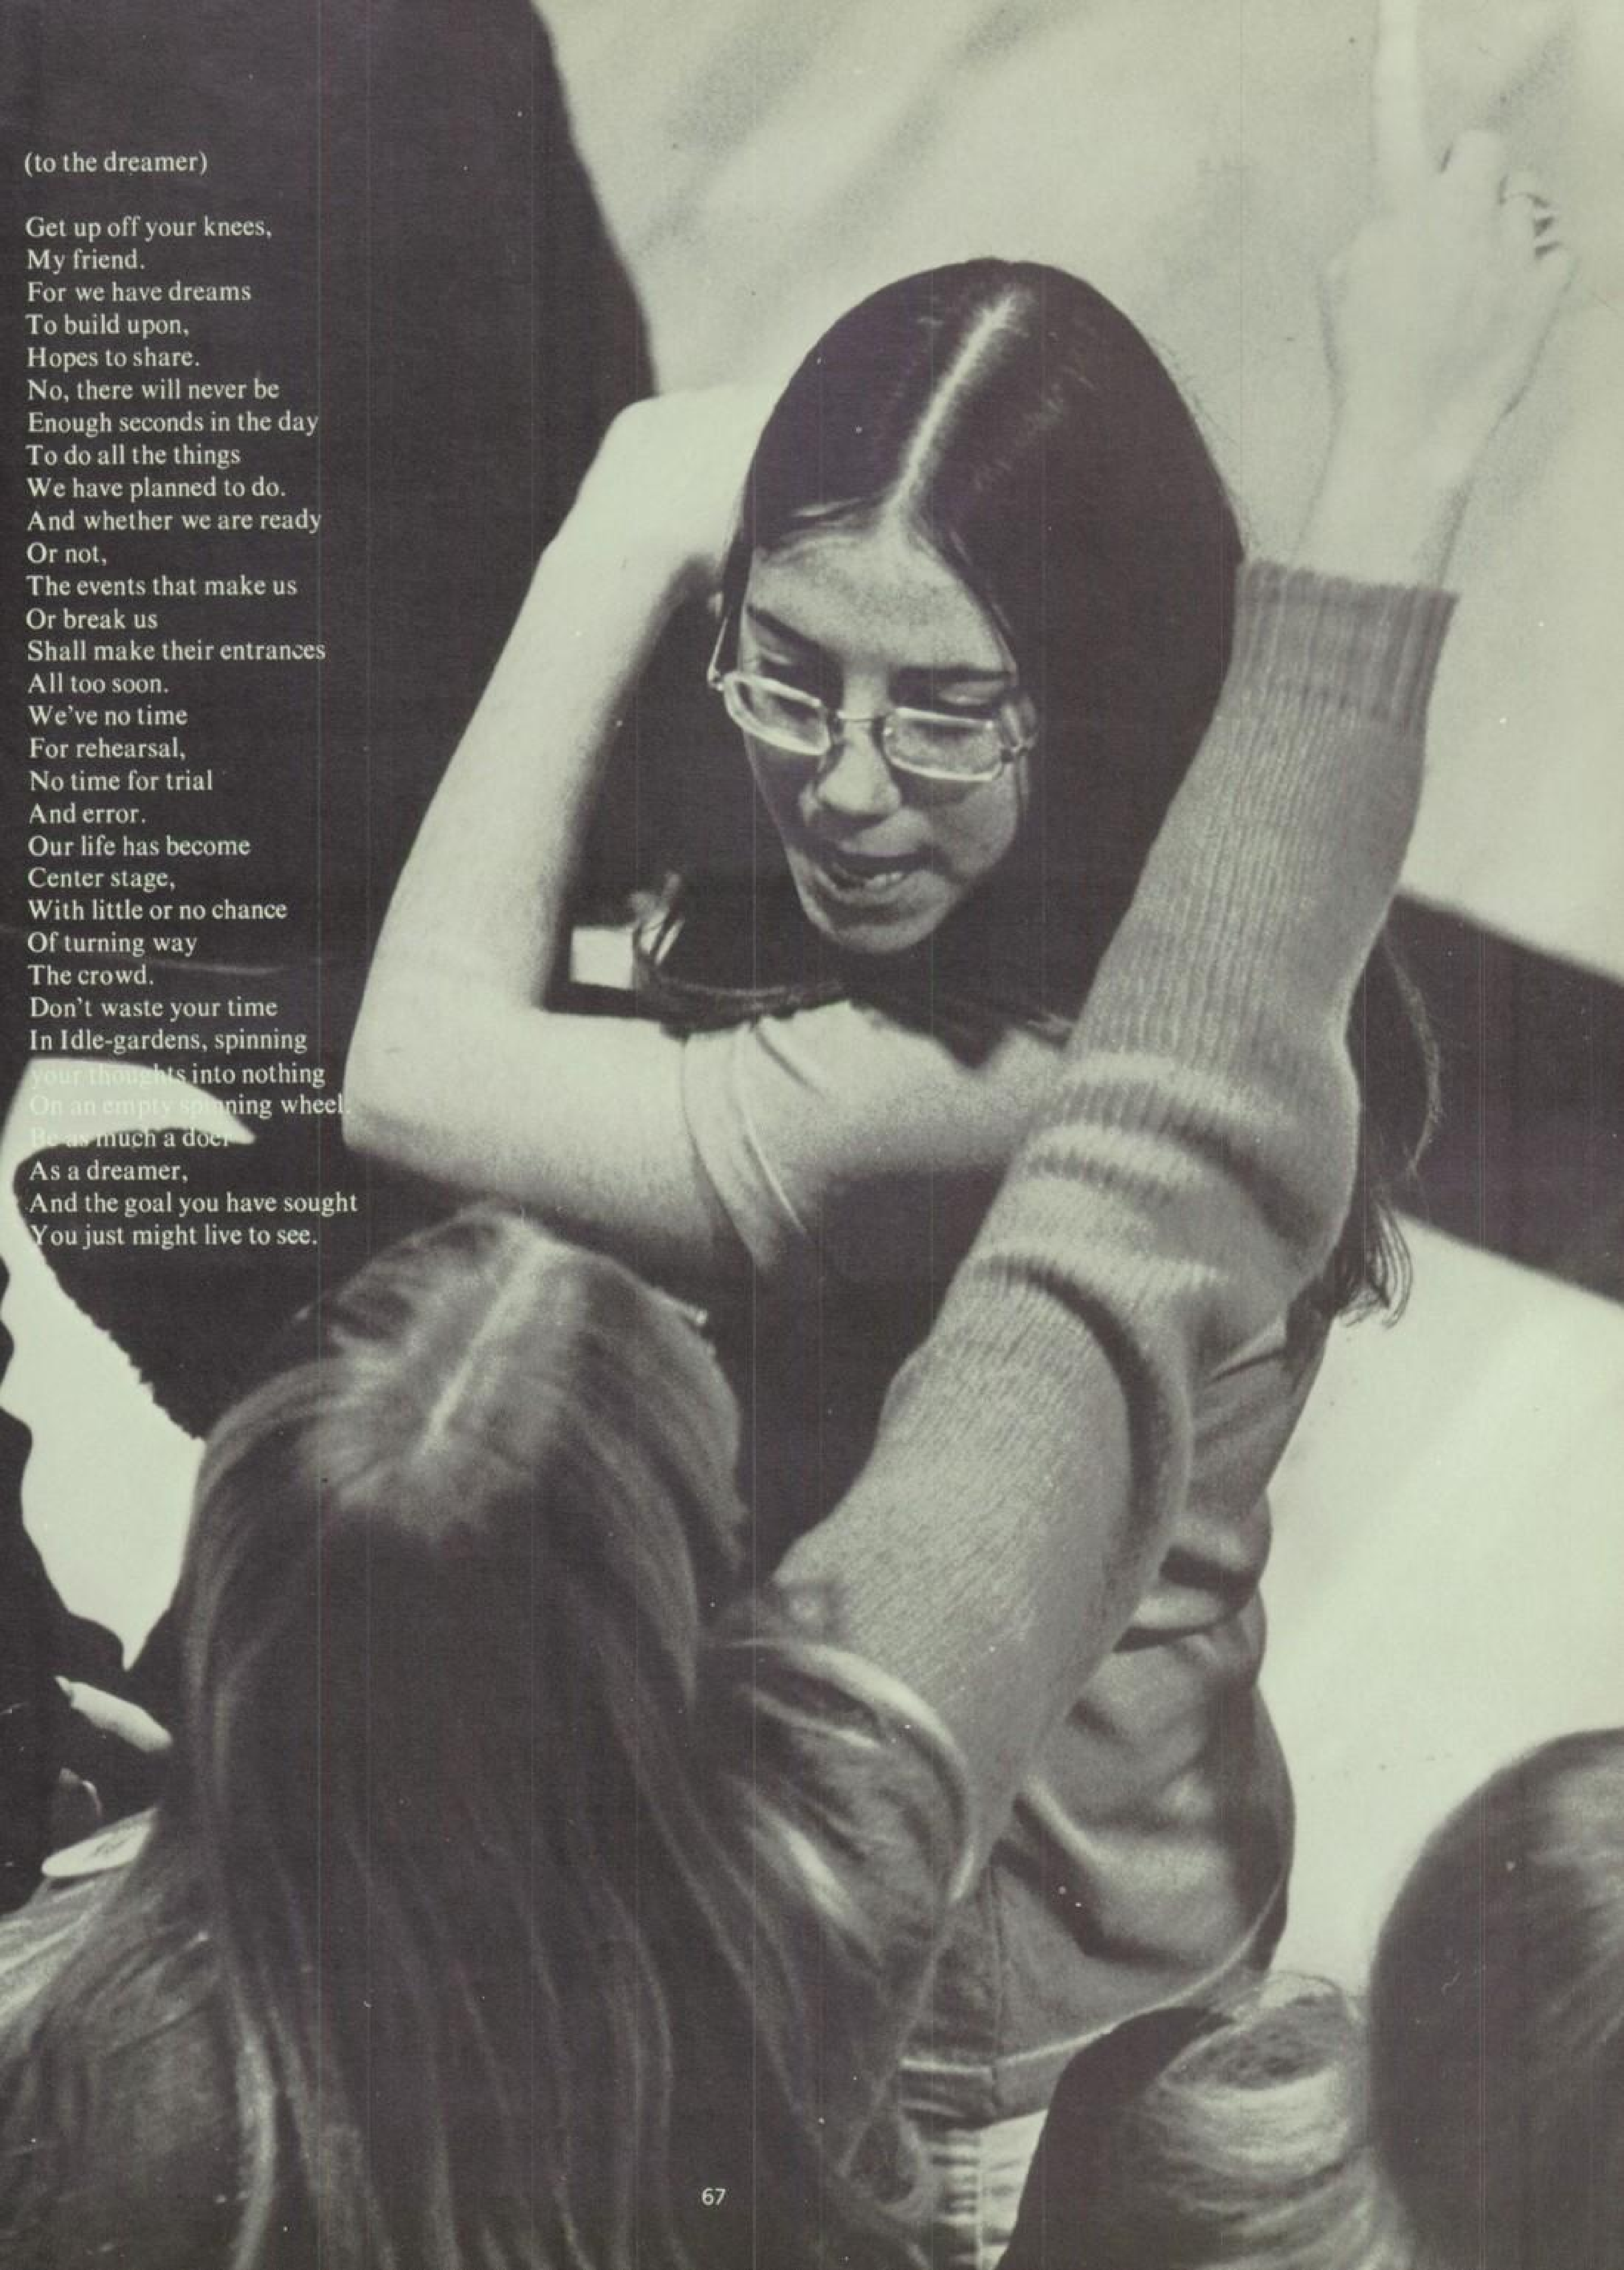
Student government has probably never been anything but a "popularity contest." This year's winning presidential candidate was an unordinary looking fellow who actually wanted to do something. Chuck Campbell, this year's student body president, wore a beard. Many of the more conservative members of the faculty, administration and student body were worried that his physical appearance would be backed up by a radical nature — radical being anything contrary to the status quo.

Since student congress has no actual powers, they can only recommend that changes be made. Two of their most significant labors presented to the faculty and administration for their approval were the 30 minute lunch and junior honor's passes.





KAPPA KAPPA GAMM



(to the dreamer)

Get up off your knees,
My friend.
For we have dreams
To build upon,
Hopes to share.
No, there will never be
Enough seconds in the day
To do all the things
We have planned to do.
And whether we are ready
Or not,
The events that make us
Or break us
Shall make their entrances
All too soon.
We've no time
For rehearsal,
No time for trial
And error.
Our life has become
Center stage,
With little or no chance
Of turning way
The crowd.
Don't waste your time
In Idle-gardens, spinning your thoughts into nothing
On an empty spinning wheel.
Be as much a doer
As a dreamer,
And the goal you have sought
You just might live to see.

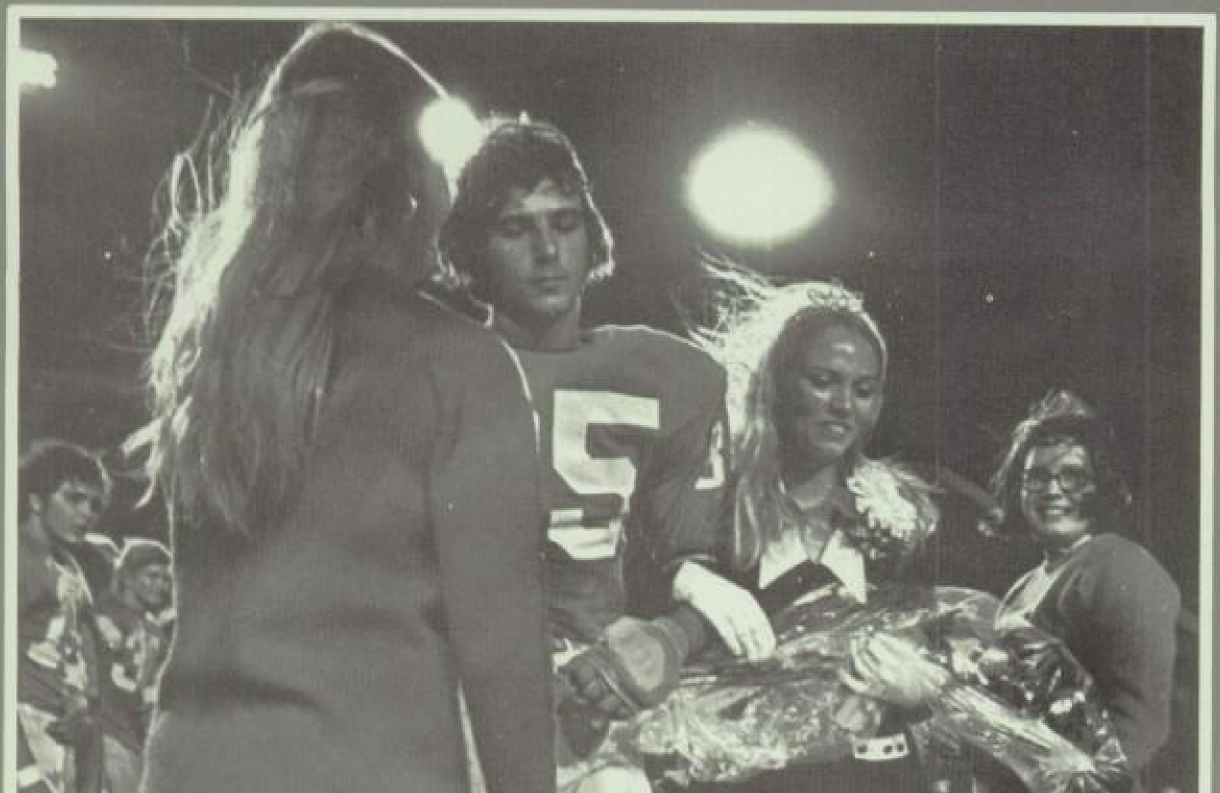
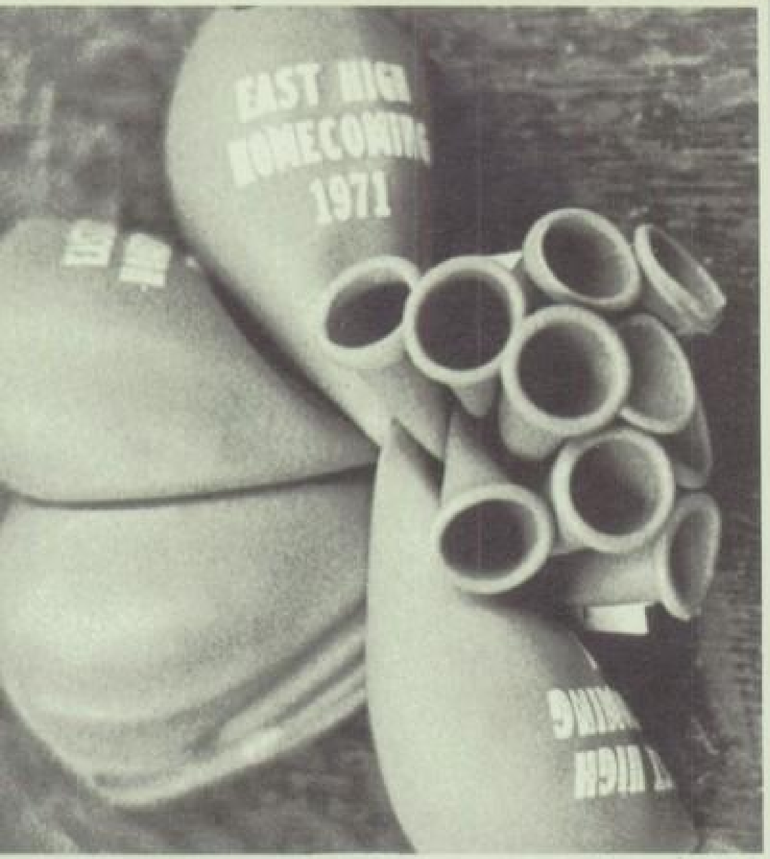
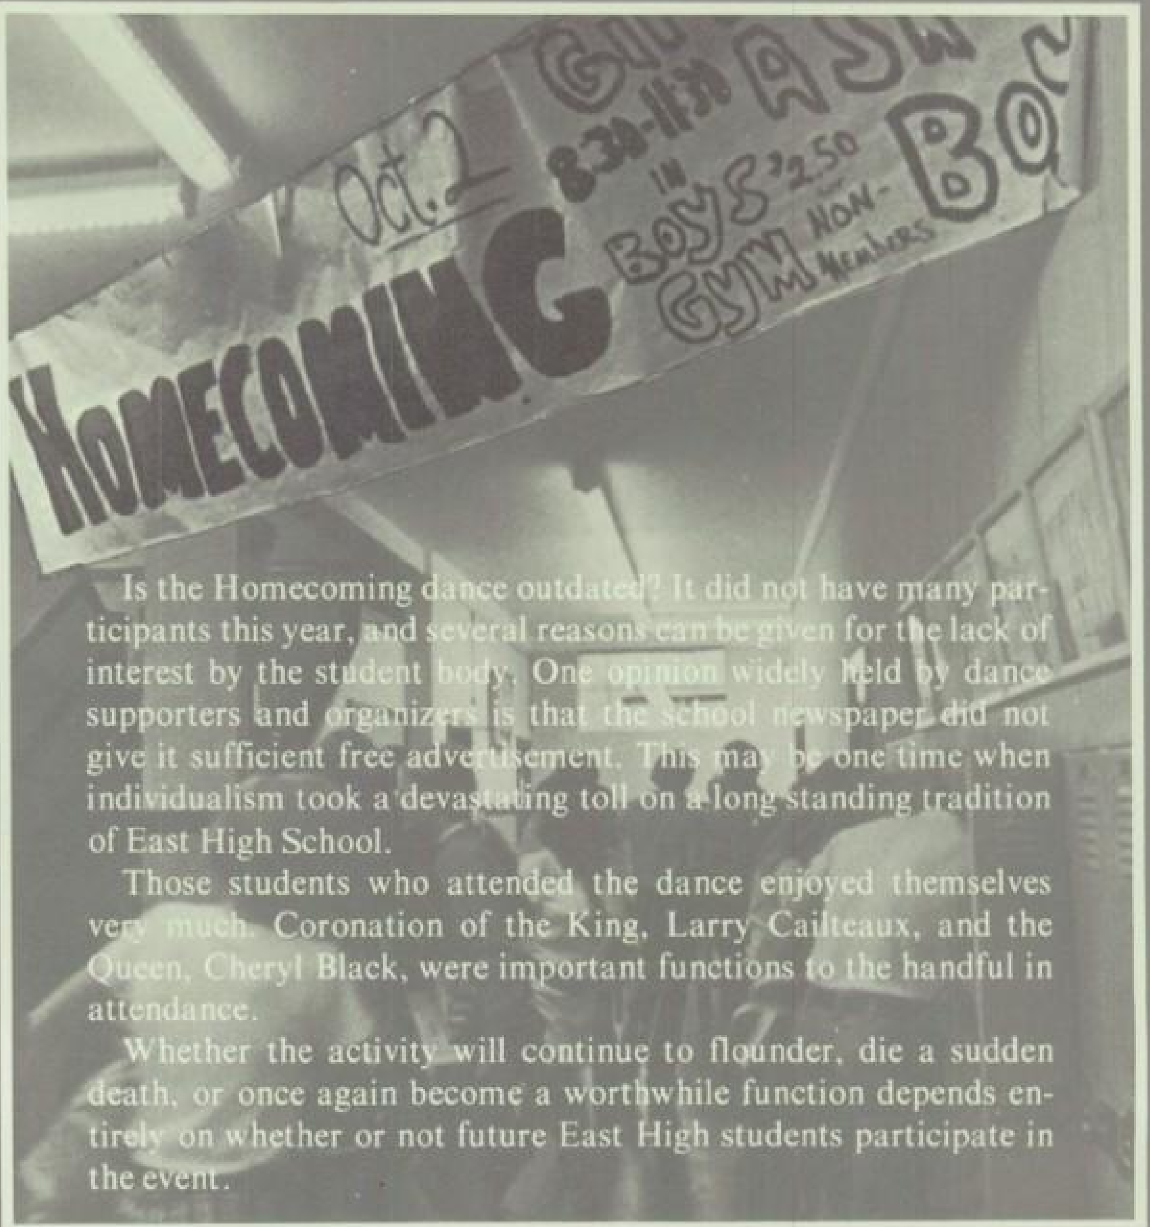
...PARTICIPATION







Is the Homecoming dance outdated? It did not have many participants this year, and several reasons can be given for the lack of interest by the student body. One opinion widely held by dance supporters and organizers is that the school newspaper did not give it sufficient free advertisement. This may be one time when individualism took a devastating toll on a long standing tradition of East High School.

Those students who attended the dance enjoyed themselves very much. Coronation of the King, Larry Cailteaux, and the Queen, Cheryl Black, were important functions to the handful in attendance.

Whether the activity will continue to flounder, die a sudden death, or once again become a worthwhile function depends entirely on whether or not future East High students participate in the event.

Club Presidents Review Goals, Accomplishments

Latin Club

"Latin Club was formed in December of 1971 and started out with a celebration of Saturnalia, which is a Roman holiday resembling Christmas.

Later activities were celebrating some of the Roman spring frestivities and joining the state Latin Club which permitted them to attend the JCL (Junior Classical League) conference held in Salina, Kansas.'

— Kyle Travis,
President

Future Medical Careers Club

"The field of medicine offers a wide variety of professions, and Future Medical Careers Club deals with all of them. This club holds some of the world's future doctors, nurses and medical technicians. To help turn out some good ones, the club offers films, filmstrips and guest speakers dealing with medicine. Local field trips to various medical institutions and an all day field trip to Kansas City during the spring were planned. As a Christmas project, the club adopted an Indian family, selling candy to raise the money needed."

— Pam Milburn,
President

Student Congress

"Student Congress, trying to be meaningful in a year of increased apathy and change, influenced bringing about an open lunch to East High as well as second sememster junior honor passes. Student Congress members also participated in a student exchange day and the first city-wide student council workshop held in November at West High. The Student Congress carried out its traditional functions of sponsoring assemblies, decorating the halls at Christmas, participating in the Carnival for Cash as well as helping with the United Fund, March of Dimes and several other fund-raising projects."

— Chuck Campbell,
President

Letterwomen's Club

"The athletic women of East are united in the Leterwomen's Club. Letterwomen's Club sells the programs at all the varisty boys' games. Also included in this year's agenda was an All-City Invitational Letterwomen's Meeting. Ten representatives from each school were present. Girls became a member of Letterwomen's Club through obtaining points in after-school sports. Banquets were given at the end of each semester for those girls who had obtained this honor."

— Nancy Blackstad,
President

Messenger Staff

"Tradition was broken this year as the Messenger' staff significantly changed the newspaper in hopes of better meeting the needs and desires of the students. For the first time since 1893 the 'Messenger was handed out to every student free of charge. The staff also began publishing the paper once a week instead of every two weeks in order to avoid printing old news. The "look" of the 'Messenger' was another change. This consisted of having more pictures, larger print and more controversial stories."

— Pam Vandeveer,
Editor-in-Chief

Lettermen's Club

"Throughout the year, East High's Lettermen's Club received considerable praise from other city schools for both its large size and good spirit. The club did much work during the year in an attempt to purchase a weight machine to use for all sports. The lettermen also joined with pep club members for play days and again did their part in the all-school project."

— Steve Kohler,
President

National Forensics League

"N.F.L. can best be described as a fraternal organization for high school students. East has a fully affiliated chapter which sends representatives to speech and debate contests.

Through active participation in speech activities, members obtain degrees of achievement. The chapter also sponsors a project for the Carnival for Cash."

— Loal Wilson,
President

Chess Club

"The Chess Club was created for the purpose of promoting chess and making it available to interested students. The chess club sponsors several tournaments each year in order that the benefits gained by playing often can be practically demonstrated. Moreover, chess is not an end, but a means to an end; the end is a new and better way of logic and creative thought.

— Chuck Campbell,
Vice-president

All School Project

"The All School Project Steering Committee plans and sponsors the Carnival for Cash, an annual money-making project which as been a traditional event at East High for 25 consecutive years. Each organization at East participates in the event by sponsoring a booth at the Carnival, which is held in late March. The money raised by both the class competition before the Carnival and the Carnival itself goes to support the 'Save the Children Foundation,' to provide scholarships for East High Students and to provide funds for educational facilities for the school."

— Anne Harlenske,
Chairman

Art Club

"The East High Art Club participated in various activities such as trips to surrounding art museums and undertook two main projects for the 1971-72 school year.

The first project was a multimedia project consisting of music, lights and a slide show designed by the members of the Art Club to stress the importance of art to the club members and other students. The other main project was a money-raising project for the Carnival for Cash."

— Doug McKinney,
President

Spanish Club

"The activities of this year's Spanish Club promoted interest and knowledge of the culture and language of Spanish-speaking countries and peoples.

These activities were: preparing a Christmas Fiesta Complete with the trimmings of an old Spanish fiesta, attending a Continental Breakfast, participating in the city-wide foreign lanuage club, producing plays and skits, sponsoring a booth in the Carnival for Cash and preparing a spring banquet similar to the Christmas Fiesta. The club also worked with the city-wide clubs to publish a newspaper and produce programs for Channel 8."

— Elaine Eaton,
President

French Club

"French Club was very active this year. We had a total membership of 67. At the first meeting, Kim Swafford presented slides of his father's trip to France. The second meeting had a girl from the Foreign Study League speaking on her trip to Europe. The best meeting was our Christmas meeting with a visit from the Pere Noel and a presentation of the play 'Little Red Riding Hood."

— Kim Swafford,
President

Math Club

"This year's Math Club was highly successful in comparison to the past few years. Reaching a total membership of 33 this year, the club had many interesting and exciting programs. Utilizing mostly local talent for programs, the members of the Math Club found that each meeting became a personal involvement in the world of mathematics. The subject of these programs ranged from the abacus to slide rules and were intended to widen the scope of mathematical knowledge for everyone involved."

— Mark Winkler,
President

Science Club

"Science Club started the year off with a membership drive and brought back the tradition of the free watermelon feed (all students were invited, but few attended). Most of the other activities for the year included lectures, films and field trips. Some of the lectures included: Mr. S.S. Whitehead, of the Astronimical Society; Les Sourbeer, of Wesley Medical Research; Mr. DeGoerd, of Vulcan Chemicals; and a lecture given by one of the members on 'Hypnosis — Can It Help You?" This year Science Club turned more interest toward our ecology, showing the film 'What Are You Doing to Your World?' as well as selling anti-pollution stickers. A few meetings were devoted to discussing scholarships and other programs available to students in Science Club only. Field trips included a visit to a research lab that deals with developing wheat by-products and a bicycle trip to a local chemical research laboratory in the spring."

— Patricia Ballard,
President

Industrial Arts Club

"The Industrial Arts Club is now in its second year. It was formed a year ago to help bring together — on a regular basis — those students who have a high degree of interest in Industrial Arts. Monthly tours are conducted to various industries in Wichita and its surrounding areas. Some of the tours this past year were to: McCormick-Armstrong Printing Co.; Hesco Furniture Co., in Hesston; Davis Manufacturing Co.; and a Titan Missile Complex.

The East High Industrial Arts Club was the first such club in Wichita and is is a member of the American Industrial Arts Student Association (AIASA) which is supported and sponsored by the American Industrial Arts Association (AIAA), the national professional association of industrial arts teachers."

Office Education Club

"Office Education Club 1971-1972 really started before we knew what it was all about. Last year's seniors who had an unusual enthusiasm for their club invited all of us who were selected for Office Education to come to a car rally, and we found our way to Sims Park for a weiner roast on a sunny summer-like day in May. We were told about some of the activities of the club, but it was not until September that we learned through our orientation to OE what the club was really like. We learned that this was a different kind of club because it was part of the OE program. It was to be the way we learned to participate in civic, school and social services as well as a course in parliamentary procedures. We also learned that we were to be a part of a Kansas Office Education Association and a part of the National Office Education Association which had aims and purposes that we would follow in our activities. This was to be the leadership training part of the Office Education program. All of our activities in some way help to develop progressive leadership. It helps us to be competent, agressive, self-reliant and cooperative. One of the goals is to develop a deep feeling for responsibility for contributing through business activities to the civic, social and moral welfare of society and at the same time to develop an appreciation of the influence of the fine arts in business and industry. In summary, the club is a training station to promote good citizenship. These activities are recorded in a manual which is entered in state and national competition with other clubs. To do all of this, we needed money, so we seemed to be selling something all of the time. Mistletoe and black light posters were easy to sell. This money paid for a Thanksgiving dinner for a family less fortunate than we were. It financed a party for the children in the children's home at Halloween. Then we made coloring books from our duplicating lessons for children's wards at hospitals during Christmas. We entertained our employers at a luncheon with other OE and DE clubs in the city. All of this plus school and a part time office-job makes OE club members the busiest people in town."

— Linda Harris,
President

Distributive Education Club

"Throughout the year the Distributive Education Club of America at East High was involved in many kinds of activities such as trips to Central Vocational Technical School to see demonstrations about shoplifting, job application and salesmanship or the field trips to Macy's display department, KAKE's Television advertising department and the Wichita Eagle-Beacon ad lay out department.

"The employee-employer banquet was another memorable event. The banquet was held in the Scottish Rights Temple and served over 500 people.

One of the competitive events was the State Leadership Conference. The chapter of East and other chapters competed in retailing skills. Following up on the State Leadership Conference was the National Leadership Conference which was the same but on a national level. The winners of the State Conference competed against other chapters from other states for the national leadership.

Along with the professional and competitive activities, the East High chapter had their social events also. There were such things as luncheons at the Pizza Inn and Fiesta Cantina, picnics, bowling parties and activities to let the East High chapter get to know the other chapters of other schools."

The Birth Of . . .

...SELF-RELIANCE

When Spirit and Loyalty Began Seniors Led the Way

Cross bussing and civil strife have torn the country nearly to its life-line. It has thrown students into East High from other Wichita high schools at a time when shcool spirit, academics and competition have reached an all time low. Through all this, the class of seventy-two, with the support of their underclassmen, have turned the dying, if not totally dead, tradition of loyalty and pride in this school into a newer and stronger version, one based on understanding. This understanding brings about a unique and stronger bond between the seniors and their underclassmen. Along with the understanding there exists a revolution which supports newer and better ideas for solving the problem which the seniors face as they leave the security of East High's domain.

Juniors Reach Turning Point, Look to Senior Year

Completing their second year at East High, juniors were torn between fond memories of the past year and exciting expectations of their senior year. They have experienced perhaps the most significant year of their education, for this year was a turning point in their lives. The decisions they make from now on will determine the paths of their futures, yet must be made by each individual — not by any other person. However, the class of '73 proved that they were capable and willing to hold the responsibilities that a senior class must have.

East Opens Doors, Sophs Welcomed to New Life

Bringing fresh ideas and promise of accomplishments, the sophomore class adjusted quickly to the many new facets of high school life. Their enthusiasm in spirit and concern with the problems of East High established the class of '74 as having the potential to lead the student body in times of frustration. Determination and hard work are very important in the construction of a proud tradition and the sophomore class has shown they have the qualities necessary to continue this tradition.

Administration Continues Fine Job While Working With Students

Completing his fourth year as principal, Dr. Vernon O. Kirby has proved himself a capable and well qualified leader. Throughout this year he has faced a new student body prone to individualism and deeply concerned with student rights. The job has not been an easy one. However, with the help of his three assistants Gerald Gribble, Jim Davenport and Fred Hale, the job was made much easier.

(high school)

Poor High School, I knew him
Well. T'was through his eyes
I finally saw a small
Fragmented-piece-of world;
And through his hands,
I touched a new-found-friend.
Or maybe, I
Rekindled the warmth
I had come to know
With my long-lost-brother
In the hope that old-aquaintances
Might never be forgotten . . .
Well, kids,
The old-clock-on-the-wall
Says its just about that time
Again — T-minus 3 years
And counting . . .
And now, dear-heart,
The lecture shall commence:
Friends, Romans, Lettermen
And even you blasted
Homecoming queens and freshmen,
Lend me your ears, and anything
Else you can spare . . .
Don't you all remember
The fresh, clean, smell
Of the locker rooms
Which came through
With a fragrance to remind you
Of stale, over-used socks,
Like Grandma used to make?
And who can forget
Dear-old-teacher,
Standing before you,
All day, everyday till three
While the principal
And all of his disciples
Stand like sentries,
Patrolling the halls? . . .

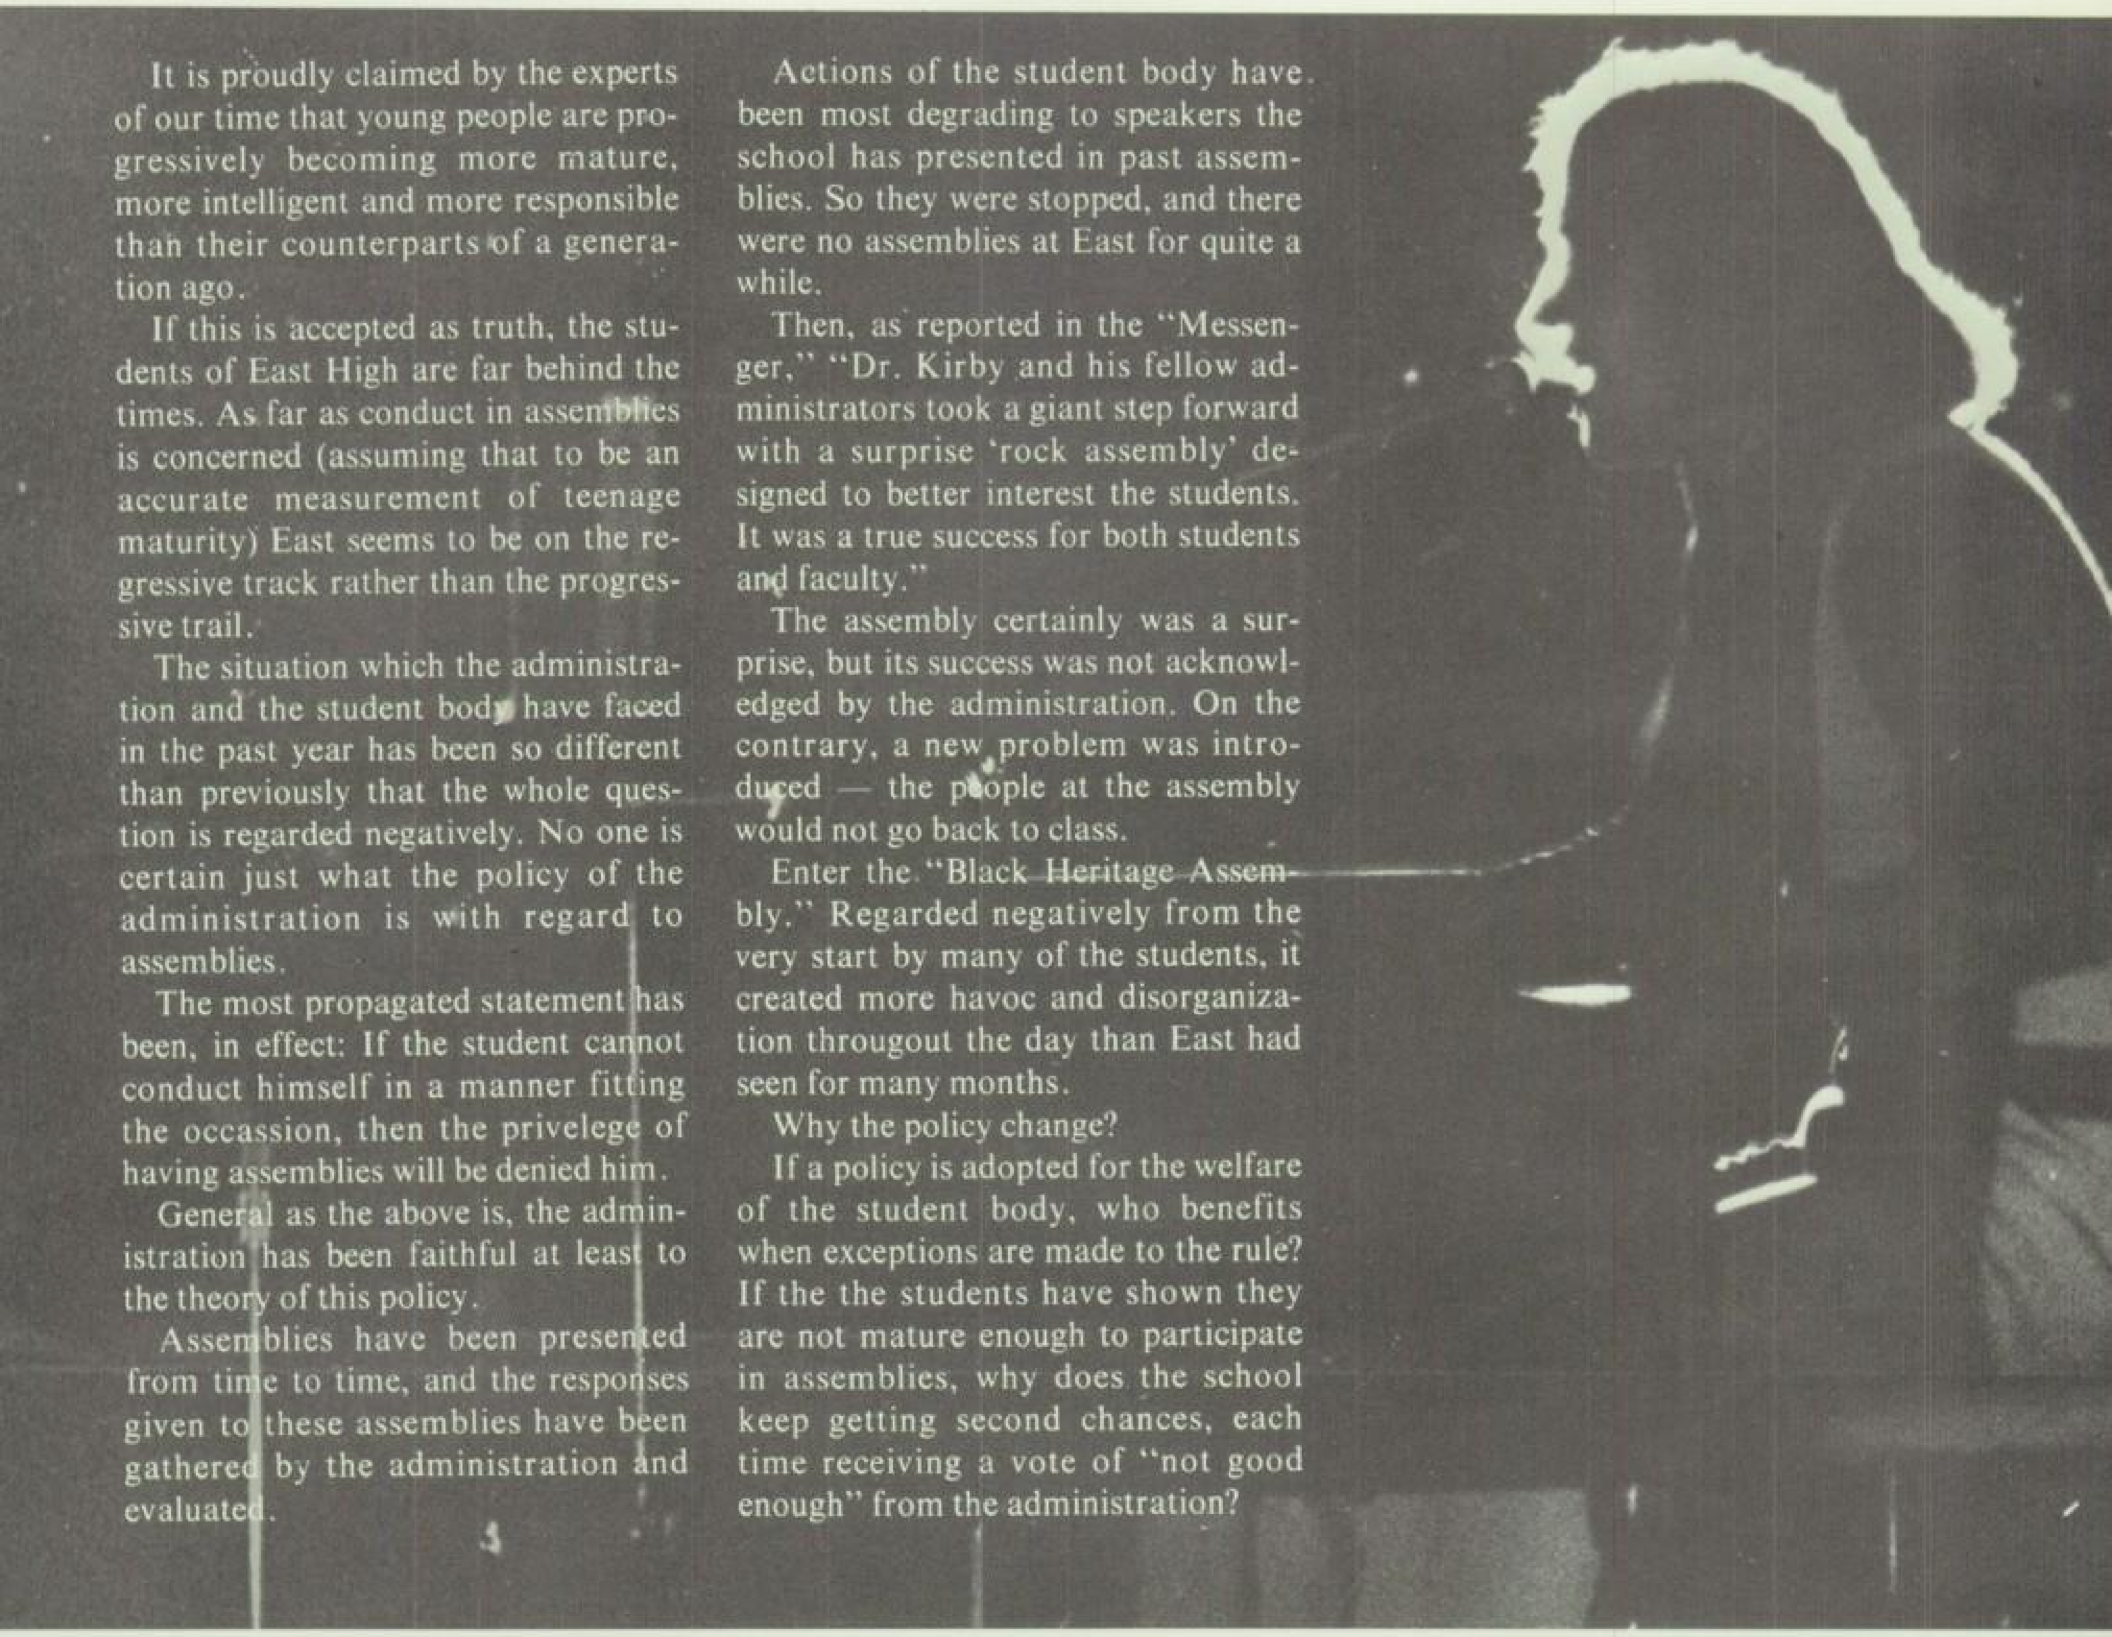
A Comment . . .



It is proudly claimed by the experts of our time that young people are progressively becoming more mature, more intelligent and more responsible than their counterparts of a generation ago.

If this is accepted as truth, the students of East High are far behind the times. As far as conduct in assemblies is concerned (assuming that to be an accurate measurement of teenage maturity) East seems to be on the regressive track rather than the progressive trail.

The situation which the administration and the student body have faced in the past year has been so different than previously that the whole question is regarded negatively. No one is certain just what the policy of the administration is with regard to assemblies.

The most propagated statement has been, in effect: If the student cannot conduct himself in a manner fitting the occassion, then the privelege of having assemblies will be denied him.

General as the above is, the administration has been faithful at least to the theory of this policy.

Assemblies have been presented from time to time, and the responses given to these assemblies have been gathered by the administration and evaluated.

Actions of the student body have been most degrading to speakers the school has presented in past assemblies. So they were stopped, and there were no assemblies at East for quite a while.

Then, as reported in the "Messenger," "Dr. Kirby and his fellow administrators took a giant step forward with a surprise 'rock assembly' designed to better interest the students. It was a true success for both students and faculty."

The assembly certainly was a surprise, but its success was not acknowledged by the administration. On the contrary, a new problem was introduced — the people at the assembly would not go back to class.

Enter the "Black Heritage Assembly." Regarded negatively from the very start by many of the students, it created more havoc and disorganization througout the day than East had seen for many months.

Why the policy change?

If a policy is adopted for the welfare of the student body, who benefits when exceptions are made to the rule? If the the students have shown they are not mature enough to participate in assemblies, why does the school keep getting second chances, each time receiving a vote of "not good enough" from the administration?

Yea gymnastics!

Dale, Honey
Thank you so much
for taking me to the Prom.
I enjoyed watching your beautiful, muscular body
swing and flop around.
Think of "JOCK" and "HONEY" whenever you get low and walking out on the mat
n front of everybody.
'll never forget you drinking
ilk at the Hickory House.
Do you remember me giving ou your medals. WOW!
I have enjoyed ~~us~~ teasing you and laughing with you. Listen Be careful and treat your parents good cause they care about you or else they wouldn't travel all ~~your~~ over the state to watch you. Watch out!

Cheryl

ALE DARR, WHAT A BIZARRE PERSON YOU AIN'T. AFTER ALL THESE YEARS OF BARELY KNOWING YOU, THIS YEAR WE REALLY GOT TO KNOW EACH OTHER NOT THAT WAY, FAGGOT). WRITING IN A CAR IN THE HOT SUN IS REALLY TOTALLY IMPOSSIBLE. WITH THIS BEING THE NEXT TO LAST DAY OF SCHOOL, ALL I CAN SAY IS "JESUS" (YOU CAN CROSS THAT OUT IF YOU WANT TO. HOW DOES IT FEEL TO BE A JOCK FREAK. THOSE TYPE ARE PRETTY RARE. NICE JOB OF PARKING THE CAR IN "VOKIES CITY"!! HOPE KSU DOESN'T GIVE YOU ANY SCHOLARSHIP SO YOU'LL COME OUT TO OSU, THE BEST SCHOOL!!.. KEEP OUT FOR TRACK SO J.D. WILL BE HAPPY WITH YOU. THAT'S ENOUGH OF THIS B.S. SO IT IS TIME TO SAY GOOD DAY SUNSHINE

Dale,

Its been alot of fun this year in film class making those dumb films, Hill really gave us alot of trouble. It was really fun sitting out in the middle of Lincoln, Remember all the tacks Joe and I put in your chair? You gotta watch out for those ~~tak~~ tacks. Have fun this summer and try and take it easy. Good luck next year in whatever you do, especially gymnastics. Take Care.

ROD HARSHFIELD

Someday when you get a little older & if you keep practicing you might get to be almost as good of a gymnast as me. Remember a the fun we had in the Gym but we'd always end up sweeping the floor. Good luck next year or the next or in a couple of years when you get out of Highschool. No man, just make the best out of life and always do what you think best.

Marcus Aralius Fortunatus
Hanna Adams the third.

Dale:

Well I'm glad that I got to know who you are this year. One of these days were going to have to cut some grass and well you know. By the end of summer make up your mind on which college your going to go to because if you don't get your shit together the fall will be a real hassle. Have Fun.
